Troops Called Out As Twenty-Three Die in Race Riots

More Than 700 Injured, 600 Jailed In Wild Disorders in Detroit Streets

DETROIT, June 22 (Tuesday), (AP).—President Roosevelt called on Detroit race rioters in a formal proclamation early today to "disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes" after a series of wild disorders had taken twenty-three lives and injured more than 700 persons.

The President's proclamation was issued after War Secretary Henry Stimson had directed the commander of the Sixth Service Command, Major-Gen. Henry S. Aurand, to use troops to put down the rioting.

The War Department announced the arrival of troops was welcomed and that order was being restored.

Streets grew gradually quiet as rioters dispersed with the arrival of the troops after nearly twenty-four hours of fights between negroes and white men—marked by a pitched battle at a negro apartment hotel. More than 700 persons were hurt, police reported at midnight.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries announced at 11:30 o'clock (E.D.T.) last night that the situation was much improved. Of the twenty-three dead, twenty were negroes.

POLICE IMPOUND AUTOS ON STREETS

Police had regained sufficient authority to be able to impound automobiles of persons unable to explain their street presence acceptably. Earlier, cars had been racing up and down the streets.

In Chicago, headquarters of the Sixth Service Command reported that President Roosevelt had issued a proclamation calling upon rioters to cease and desist in their unlawful activities, and that in response to the proclamation Brig.-Gen. William Guthner had been placed in command of the Detroit area. Gen. Guthner was assigned to Detroit by Maj.-Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding officer of the Sixth Service Command.

Troops rolled into Cadillac Square, heart of the city, an hour before midnight to quell riots spreading over a wide area.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, June 21.—Italy is feverishly preparing for invasion, says The Times. Civilian populations of Sicilian cities have been given three weeks to evacuate themselves and the same applies to Naples and Cagliari, Sardinian capital, whose inhabitants have already been reduced from 100,000 to 6,000.

Fresh decrees have been issued, mobilizing all available labor, and all foreign residents have been placed under strict watch lest they should include fifth columnists among them.

As well as aerial bombardments of Italian territory, attacks on shipping continue to be made in Greek waters.

General Freyberg, New Zealand Victoria Cross hero of the last war, who is visiting New Zealand, says the most remarkable fact about the Tunisian campaign was the unwillingness of the Nazis to fight. In the last stages the Italians fought better than the Germans, doubtless because they felt they were defending an outpost of their Homeland. But the Germans wanted to get out of Africa altogether and "just chucked in their hands."

Another highly damaging raid has been made by the Royal Air Force on the Le Creusot armament works in France. Hardly had repairs been made after a daring daylight attack in October last than the Royal Air Force, with trifling loss, went over in moonlight during the week-end and wrecked the plant again.

Defences were poor, and the airmen had perfect aim, leaving fires and explosions behind them.

French workers had been warned some days before to get away from all factories working for Germany.

Nazis Moving More Troops Into France

Mussolini Gets Little Support

LONDON, June 21 (AP).—Germany was reported today to be moving substantial reinforcements into France as the eve of the second anniversary of Hitler's attack on Russia found an increasing number of military observers convinced that defeats and perils of invasion have forced Axis chieftains to abandon hope of knocking the Soviet Union out of the war.

One usually reliable foreign source in London estimated that German troop strength in France has been raised from thirty-five to forty-four divisions in recent weeks, but said Hitler was forced to turn down appeals from Mussolini to send more ground forces into the bomb-jolted Italian peninsula where surface signs indicated the danger of Allied invasion was most immediate.

The Germans themselves through radio broadcasts contributed the most to these surface signs, declaring an Allied fleet was assembling off Syria in the Eastern Mediterranean for an attack through the Aegean, and that a fleet of two battleships, an aircraft carrier, a cruiser and seventeen destroyers was at Gibraltar.

Berlin and Rome communiques told of numerous attacks on convoys, implying heavy Allied ship movements in the Mediterranean, but many British observers agreed there were no indications the Germans had more than one or two combat divisions in all Italy, Sicily and Sardinia to bolster the Italian front.

SEE SURRENDER NOT FAR OFF

With Allied aerial forces on the move in the Mediterranean, and the Germans still held to inactivity on the Eastern Front, the Moscow Communist party newspaper Pravda marked the anniversary of the beginning of the German-Russian

A Possible Short Cut to Germany

The sandy beaches of Flushing, Holland, shown in this photograph, are among numerous potential beachheads which the Allies may seek to capture for a speedy drive into Germany. Flushing is only a little more than 100 miles from Harwich, England. While it has presumably been heavily fortified by the Nazis, this area is within easy fighter plane range from Britain and geographically offers a short cut to Germany.

Russians Triumphantly Broadcast Proclamation to Mark Anniversary

LONDON, June 22 (Tuesday) (CP).—Soviet Russia, commemorating the second anniversary of its successful resistance against the most powerful invasion ever known, triumphantly proclaimed to the world today:

"The Germans have stopped believing in victory."

In a special broadcast on this, the June day which Hitler used two years ago to fling his vast armies at the Soviet Union, the Moscow radio declared the invader's defeat before Moscow had been "the decisive event of the Second World War" and that the Nazis entered the third year of the Russian campaign bankrupt of victory and suffering a legacy of progressive defeats both in Russia and North Africa.

TWO YEARS OF BLOODY STRUGGLE

Reviewing two years of the bloodiest struggle in history, the Russian broadcast, recorded here by the Soviet monitor, put German casualties at 6,400,000 in killed and missing—that is, including those in Russian captivity — and Russian losses at 4,200,000 in dead and missing.

In material, it was added, the Nazis had lost 42,400 tanks and 43,000 planes against Russian losses of 35,000 guns, 30,000 tanks and 23,000 planes.

The second war year just now closed, the Russians said, was a year devoid of a single significant German military victory and, having lost all hope of a quick victory, Hitler had attempted to split the Allies, but this scheme, too, had "been shattered in the firm alliance of freedom-loving people."

"Thus," the broadcast went on, "the military and political situation of Hitlerite Germany is in a state of crisis."

"This," said the Russian announcement, is proved by the state of panic in the German rear.

"The Germans have stopped believing in victory."

The broadcast reported guerrillas killed more than 30,000 Germans and blew up 3,000 trains during the period of war.

"German industry cannot replace its losses. It is suffering from a shortage of labor power."

BULLETIN

Reports State of Siege

LONDON, June 22 (Tuesday), (CP).—The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press, reported today that a state of siege had been decreed in Syria.

There was no immediate confirmation of the German report from British sources. Only last week British authorities closed the border between Syria and Turkey for a brief time, and Axis quarters immediately speculated that the move was made to cover up secret troop movements.

Hanson Clashes With Coldwell Over Aluminum

OTTAWA, June 21 (CP).—Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. spokesmen in the House of Commons today crossed swords in a renewed discussion of Aluminium Co. of Canada operations.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (Progressive Conservative, York-Sunbury), said that the C.C.F. had raised "a hue and cry" against the company for political purposes, but he thought Munitions Minister Howe should give further information on prices paid for aluminum for war purposes.

Mr. Hanson read part of an editorial in The Ottawa Citizen quoting Mrs. Grace MacInnes, wife of Angus MacInnes (C.C.F. Vancouver East), as telling an Ottawa C.C.F. meeting that "Shipshaw (an Aluminum Co. of Canada power project on the Saguenay River in Quebec) is one of the most valuable pieces of ammunition for the C.C.F. in the forthcoming elections."

"Let us strip off all this sham," said Mr. Hanson.

"I take no responsibility for statements made by persons other than myself," said M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader.

Mr. Hanson finally withdrew a statement that Mr. Coldwell had introduced the discussion of aluminum company affairs for political purposes, but let stand a similar charge against the C.C.F. party as a whole.

Election Campaign In Eire at Close

DUBLIN, June 21 (CP).—Eire's first wartime election campaign — the dullest in the country's history—came to an end tonight with most of the candidates out of their eight-gallon gas ration and getting around afoot, on horseback or in horse-drawn vehicles.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera wound up his quick tour with a big rally tonight in Dublin. He has covered more than 2,000 miles in nineteen days and reports from the constituencies indicate that his party, the Fianna Fail, should hold its own when the votes are counted.

The Prime Minister had no campaign promises except the reiteration of his present policy of keeping Eire out of trouble and making the best possible use of the country's national resources.

Bank Hold-Up Nets $2,000

Four Armed Men Rob Toronto Branch

TORONTO, June 21 (CP).—Four men, two armed with revolvers, today staged a hold-up at the Bank of Nova Scotia branch in suburban Mount Dennis and escaped with between $2,000 and $3,000 in cash. However, in their hurry they overlooked $1,000 in bonds and $1,000 in bills.

The two armed men entered the bank while a third man kept watch outside. The fourth sat in an automobile and kept the motor running.

HAUL OF $2,000 FROM PORTLAND BANK

PORTLAND, Ore., June 21 (AP).—Police Detective T. L. Inskeep said a young man held up a teller at the First National Bank today and escaped with $2,000.

The man opened a black box containing what looked like dynamite sticks and threatened:

"If you don't hand over the money I'll pull the switch and blow up everybody in the bank."

No Important Changes in Battle Areas

Soviets and Nazis Trade Few Blows

LONDON, June 22 (Tuesday) (CP).—Soviet and Nazi armies traded aerial blows and exchanged artillery fire on Monday but there were "no important changes" in ground activity along the widespread Russian front, Moscow announced early today on the second anniversary of Germany's invasion of the U.S.S.R.

German planes dropped incendiary bombs in one area while Red airmen sank an enemy transport in the Black Sea, said the Russian Monday midnight communique recorded here by the Soviet radio monitor.

An earlier Moscow broadcast said German bombers attempted to raid a "populated place on the Upper Volga" on Sunday night. Several planes which penetrated the anti-aircraft barrages dropped bombs, causing civilian casualties and some damage to dwellings, it was said. The announcement said five of the raiders were shot down by Russian fighters.

Berlin identified the city as Yaroslavl, about 160 miles northeast of Moscow, and admitted the loss of three planes.

In the Sumy area, 100 miles northwest of Kharkov, where ground action shifted on Saturday from the Mtsensk area of the Orel sector, the midnight communique said Red Army troops wiped out about 150 Germans yesterday and destroyed five blockhouses and dugouts.

On the central front west of Moscow Soviet troops were said to have wiped out about a company of German infantry.

Both sides participated in infrequent artillery duels west of Rostov, where one Red Army unit was reported to have annihilated more than a company of Nazi infantry and silenced several mortar batteries.

French Group Cannot Agree

ALGIERS, June 21 (AP).—The French Committee of National Liberation was reported unofficially today to have failed to agree in a meeting on the issue of division of military powers between Generals Charles de Gaulle and Henri Giraud.

Thirteen members of the committee met in a plenary session for two hours and forty-five minutes under the shadow of the prospect that Gen. De Gaulle might withdraw unless his own proposals for reorganization of French military affairs were adopted.

Unofficially it was stated that the committee got no further than arguing the question of who should be commander-in-chief, a position Gen. Giraud now holds.

Gen. De Gaulle was reported to have demanded an immediate vote on this appointment. The committee was said to have deferred a decision until tomorrow.

A communique issued after today's meeting said simply:

"The French committee of national liberation pursued the study of reorganization of the armed forces."

Will Not Contravene Local Restrictions

VANCOUVER, June 21 (CP).—The Federal Government will not convert private homes into apartment blocks in Victoria and Vancouver areas where local restrictions against this practice are in effect, F. W. Nicolls, Federal director of housing, said today as he arrived to supervise administration of a $250,000 project to extend accommodation of large homes in both cities.

Thousands Are Believed Dead

Severe Earthquake Hits North Anatolia

ANKARA, June 21 (AP).—The Ministry of Interior announced tonight that 285 persons had been killed in the Adapazar region of Northern Anatolia by a severe earthquake which press dispatches said had destroyed about 1,000 buildings and damaged 1,000 more.

An account broadcast earlier by the Berlin radio had reported that half of the 30,000 persons in Adapazar were believed to have been killed.

The official Ankara newspaper, Ulus, printed a dispatch from a private correspondent stating that a violent shock hit the district at 6.30 p.m. Saturday.

On Sunday dead and injured were being sought among the ruins of Adapazar. The number of casualties by this morning had not been determined here, but was expected to run high.

TO HOLD INQUEST

FERNIE, June 21 (CP).—An inquest will be held today into the death of Peter Misura, forty, well-known miner who was smothered under a fall of coal last week in the Coal Creek mine. Misura and his partner were taking out a large pillar of coal when it suddenly collapsed, covering him completely.

Steel Mills Hit By New Coal Strike

War Labor Board to Insist on Contract

WASHINGTON, June 21 (CP).—With steel mills already reporting curtailed schedules because of the United States third general strike, Presidential intervention was foreseen tonight unless the miners return to the pits in the next forty-eight hours under terms acceptable to the War Labor Board.

Informed sources said the board resolved today that any understanding between Interior Secretary Harold Ickes and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, would have to conform in substance to the directive order issued by the board in the soft coal dispute last Friday.

Ickes and some of his staff conferred today with Lewis and three other U.M.W. officers. The Interior Department announced the meeting was held and would be resumed tomorrow, but declined further comment.

The board, it was learned quietly passed the word to Ickes Government boss of the mines, that it would insist on compliance with its order, and that any agreement with Lewis, oral or written, must not violate the terms of the contract written by the board.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TELLS OF MEETING

The announcement issued after the Ickes-Lewis meeting said:

"Secretary Ickes and some of his staff today conferred with executive officers of the United Mine Workers, John L. Lewis, John O'Leary, John Owens and Percy Tetlow.

"The conference is to be resumed tomorrow. There will be no further comment today from the office of the Secretary of the Interior."

Union Control May Be Needed Says Minister

Mitchell Charges Leadership "Green"

OTTAWA, June 21 (CP).—Labor Minister Mitchell hinted in the House of Commons tonight that to develop responsible trade union leadership would require the appointment of controllers of labor organizations.

Participating in a discussion on the Toronto shipyards situation in which 289 men were dismissed last week for allegedly holding a meeting on company time, Mr. Mitchell said the Government had a responsibility to the state and could not permit a group of individuals, whether they be employers or employees, to act at variance with Government policy.

"You find that in connection with the Minister of Munitions and Supply (Hon. C. D. Howe), for instance, when in his judgment he finds it necessary to put in a controller to take charge of a certain industry," Mr. Mitchell continued.

"That is often done.

"I think it can fairly be said that I know something about the difficulties of dealing with green membership (of labor organizations), the Labor Minister continued.

"But do not forget there is also green leadership in this country."

London Has Two Alerts— No Hits Within the City

LONDON, June 22 (Tuesday), (CP).—For the second night in succession the R.A.F.'s heavy bombers blasted at Germany last night while Nazi raiders scattered bombs along the Thames Estuary in hit-and-run raids that gave London two alerts.

A preliminary announcement that the R.A.F. was out again did not disclose the target of the attacks, which followed by twenty-four hours a smashing assault on the South German industrial city of Friedrichshafen, where a crippling blow was reported dealt the largest radio-location factory in the Reich.

Both London alerts were comparatively brief and there were no immediate reports of any bombings within the city itself, although one enemy plane flew up the Thames Estuary toward the capital closely pursued by gunfire. One German aircraft was reported destroyed during the night.

The Friedrichshafen raid on Sunday night was described officially as a great success.

An Air Ministry communique said heavy damage was caused to the Luftshiffbau radio factory by hits on all the main buildings, which formerly were occupied by the great Zeppelin works.

Malta Has Visit From Sovereign

The King Arrives Aboard Cruiser

VALETTA, June 20 (Delayed), (AP).—Malta, whose name has become a synonym for indomitable resistance against apparently overwhelming odds, joyfully received today an unprecedented wartime visit from the King.

He came from North Africa aboard the cruiser Aurora with an escort of four destroyers, the Lookout, Jervis, Nubian and Eskimo, along a route which until recently was a vastly hazardous one.

The voyage followed the King's journey to North Africa by plane to visit British and American troops.

Accompanying the Sovereign were Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham and Air Marshal Sir Arthur William Tedder, naval and air chiefs in the Mediterranean, and Harold Macmillan, resident minister for Allied headquarters in North Africa.

The King drove through flag-decked streets where children tossed flowers. On his tour of the city he inspected through unroofed buildings, visited the dockyards which continued their functions through the worst air raids, inspected the naval, army and air stations and the palace which proudly displays the George Cross awarded to the people collectively.

The method of the King's coming spoke volumes to the Maltese and to the Axis as well.

Until recently the journey to Malta was an extremely hazardous undertaking and for many months the voyage by sea was virtually impossible.

The Aurora was an appropriate vessel for the voyage as in the dark days of siege and aerial destruction by the Axis her guns played a great part in the island's defence and in bringing in convoys which kept the colony alive and fighting. The destroyers shared in those stirring days, too.

It is doubtful if any people elsewhere in the world could be so impressed by a visit from the King. It was on this island and to all its people that His Majesty bestowed the George Cross in April, 1942, for heroism in their stand against the Axis. It is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a civilian for bravery.

Today His Majesty conferred previously gazetted knighthoods on Air

APPEAL TO PEOPLE TO DEMAND PEACE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 21 (AP).—Thunderous new Allied air attacks across wounded Sicily, against the Messina Strait separating the island from the Italian mainland, and against island airdromes, were disclosed today as the Allied High Command broadcast direct appeals to the Italian people to "demonstrate for peace."

A night attack by R.A.F. Wellington bombers on Messina, in which two assaulting waves cast down two-ton block-busters and uncounted incendiaries over the ferry terminus, industrial areas and docks, was followed Sunday by medium bomber sweeps against enemy airdromes at Castelvetrano, Borizzo and Milo.

Large numbers of Axis planes were hit on the ground and sixteen enemy planes were shot from the sky against total Allied losses of five planes.

MUCH OF MESSINA LEFT IN FLAMES

The Wellington heavyweight raid on Messina was followed by attacks on San Giovanni in Italy proper across the Messina Strait, Porto Empedocle, in Southern Sicily, and Marsala on the west coast of the island. Much of Messina itself was left in flames visible a hundred miles away.

Although official bulletins here said nothing on the point, the

Take Toll of Enemy Planes

Twenty-Three Zeros Destroyed or Damaged

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 22 (Tuesday) (CP).—Twenty-three Japanese Zeros were destroyed or damaged by American fighters in an air battle over Lae, New Guinea, Monday, the Allied communique reported today.

This was the second big aerial battle in the Southwest Pacific in two days. Nine enemy planes were shot down and thirteen others damaged in a battle with Spitfires over Darwin on Sunday.

The New Guinea front also included sharp clashes between Allied and Japanese ground and aerial forces in the Mubo area.

Meanwhile, to the northwest, Allied bombers hammered the Loepang area in Dutch Timor, leaving fires visible sixty miles away.

The Spitfire interception at Darwin was described as the most successful to date in that area. Six bombers and three fighters were seen to crash.

The Allies lost two planes.

The Japanese also bombed Bena Bena, some seventy miles northwest of Lae and Wau, the Allied base thirty-five miles southwest of Salamaua.

Thirty-eight bombers participated in the raid on Darwin. They were escorted by twenty fighters.

Will Not Allow Communists to Hold Convention

OTTAWA, June 21 (CP).—Justice Minister St. Laurent today told the House of Commons that in view of the existing ban on the Communist party in Canada no convention of that party would be permitted to be held.

"The Minister of Justice cannot allow the holding of any convention by any group considered illegal by the Defence of Canada Regulations," he said.

"However, if those who belonged to the Communist party wished to form a new political group which did not advocate overthrowing the Government by violence, it is not in my power to stop them," the minister said.

Brig. J. F. Preston, Victoria, With Large Group Overseas

A BRITISH PORT, June 21 (CP).—A large contingent of reinforcements for the Canadian army and a small draft of R.C.A.F. officers arrived recently in the United Kingdom, it was permitted to be disclosed tonight.

All arms of the service were represented in the army group. The R.C.A.F. arrivals were mostly ground personnel but among the flying personnel were three squadron leaders of the Canadian Coastal Command, F. E. Sorenson, A.F.C., of Vancouver, F. J. Grant, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and J. K. MacDonald, of Antigonish, N.S.

The general list of officers included Squadron Leader J. S. Nutt, of Calgary, and F.O. H. R. Caxley, of Saskatoon.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, June 21 (CP).—Invasion talks was the order of the day among the thousands of Canadian reinforcement troops who embarked here recently on their way to Britain. Their arrival in Britain, the "first station on the road to Berlin" was announced tonight.

Troops to bolster infantry, artillery, tank, signaling and other units of the Canadian forces were strongly represented. Largest single group was made up of officers and men of the Algonquin Regiment, an Ontario unit.

Other units from coast to coast were represented by reinforcement drafts to form the overseas pool from which fighters would be drawn when the invasion came.

Side by side with their Canadian allies were a large number of Royal Netherlands Army personnel and Polish fighting men.

Top-ranking officers in the movement were two brigadiers, J. F. Preston of Victoria and G. Francoeur, of Montreal, who were proceeding overseas on staff appointments. Brigadier Preston, a permanent force officer, had been at fortress headquarters in Victoria for

Red Cross Chief Praises Canadian Work Overseas

THE enormity of the crime Germany has committed against Great Britain is best realized through the effect on children, Hon. Mr. Justice P. H. Gordon, C.B.E., K.C., chairman of the executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, told members of the Canadian Club at their luncheon meeting yesterday in the Empress Hotel.

He recently returned from Great Britain, having flown both ways, and was able to give the audience a first-hand picture of conditions under which the Canadian Red Cross works under fire and the people it serves.

More than 2,000,000 children have been removed to safety because of the fear of bombing, he said, while 500,000 have had to move because of actual bomb damage.

It was in the children's nurseries, fourteen of which are supported by the Canadian Junior Red Cross, that Mr. Justice Gordon said he found the chief impact of war.

"I met one little girl who was the last of her family," he said, "the others having been killed when a bomb hit the church in which her baby brother was being christened. For two little boys, I gave the pledge of the Canadian people that they would be clothed until such time as they could fend for themselves. Their father, a wounded major, was killed by a bomb, and their mother died when a bomb hit the hospital to which she was giving birth to her third child."

For his visit to the nursery, he said, the children were dressed in their best and prettiest clothes, most of which had been made by the senior girls of the Junior Red Cross.

". . . We gave Our Pledge to Clothe Them."

COURAGE OF BRITISH OUTSTANDING

The most impressive single feature of a trip to wartime Great Britain today is not the sight of bomb damage, but the people, who saw deadly peril after Dunkerque and met it, Mr. Justice Gordon said.

"They realized that although the field was lost, all was not lost," he said. "Every bay was guarded against seaplane landings. Every straight piece of road and possible landing surface was obstructed. Tank traps were dug with pick and shovel, and barricades were put through cities, and even through buildings. If we intend to live up to their high standard we will have to do more."

A positive miracle to be seen in London is St. Paul's Cathedral, he said, which stands practically undamaged with ruins for one-quarter mile around.

Although impressed with his thrilling but uneventful flight to Great Britain, which he described in detail, Mr. Justice Gordon gave most of his time to a review of the Canadian Red Cross contribution overseas.

Persons in charge of administration, such as Viscount Bennett and General Price, head organizations which have given full value for the $42,000,000 contributed by Canadians, he said.

CANADIAN DOCTORS ASSIST COMMUNITIES

Canadian doctors in the overseas hospitals play an important part in the protection of the country, Mr. Justice Gordon said, describing a visit to one hospital when a large part of the medical staff was absent giving assistance to local doctors because of a raid nearby.

He also told of meeting men wounded at Dieppe, and others injured during the manoeuvres of the Canadian Army. Many of the latter had been injured in motorcycle accidents in the blackout, he said.

The Canadian Red Cross came to the rescue of the army during the first two Winters overseas, he said, when they supplied sorely needed blankets for the men.

"We were thanked many times for those blankets," he said.

One of Mr. Justice Gordon's finest tributes went to the women of Canada, who have worked so hard for the benefit of the Red Cross, and whose work is gratefully received.

"If Canada were to be submerged, and completely lost as an entity after the war," he said, "the legend of the needlework of Canadian women would remain alive in Europe. Her Majesty, Madame Benes, Lady Reading and many others have expressed their admiration for the marvelous sewing Canadian women have done for the benefit of war victims."

MOST NEEDY CASES ASSISTED

There are no mistakes made in the dispensation of materials, he said, as every case is on file, and assistance is given to those most in need. The records are available to the Women's Voluntary Services, with more than one million volunteer workers, who take care of civilian work for the Canadian Red Cross, he said.

For soldiers, the Red Cross operates two Maple Leaf clubs and a club for nurses, and provides comforts, visitors, and entertainment for the Canadians in hospital, he said.

Some of Mr. Justice Gordon's background was given in the introduction by George H. Gowan, who reviewed his career up to his present position as member of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal. He was thanked for his address by Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, O.B.E.

Rev. George Biddle, president, introduced Archbishop M. T. M. Harding, and Sir Richard Lake and Archdeacon J. K. Irwin, old friends of the Saskatchewan justice.

establishments and districts an official visit, the precise nature of which is not a matter of public information.

An early-morning inspection of Work Point Barracks, where he met Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, marked the beginning of a busy day yesterday, in the course of which, accompanied by staff officers and aides, General Stuart left for a destination "somewhere on Vancouver Island." It is expected that he will be leaving shortly for his official headquarters in Ottawa.

Japanese Soon to Feel Offensive

Offensive operations which are designed to catch the Japanese in a giant pincers, may be launched soon, according to Australia's Prime Minister John Curtin, following a talk with General Douglas MacArthur. One jaw of the pincers would extend southward through the Aleutians toward Tokio; the other, from the south, would grasp the Netherlands East Indies and the Philippines. Prime Minister Curtin declares the Allies will rely heavily on air power for speed in mounting the offensive.

Woman Overcome In Saanich Fire

Returning home at 5:45 p.m. yesterday, H. King, 1125 Rock Avenue, found smoke billowing from the house and his wife, alone, and overcome in an upper room where the smoke continued to rise in great clouds from a rug in the living-room where a fire of undetermined origin had started.

Responding to the alarm, the Saanich No. 1 company and inhalator crew found King struggling desperately to revive his wife. By was brought back to consciousness. Called at King's request, Dr. D. M. Baillie ordered Mrs. King's removal to the Royal Jubilee for observation.

Mrs. King had not been well lately, it was said, and may have been overcome by smoke before she realized that her home had taken fire. Apparently, however, she had suffered no serious ill effects from her experience and was resting comfortably, it was stated at the hospital at an early hour this morning.

The estimated property loss was about $120, principally in furniture and furnishings, according to the Saanich fire department.

"The European rear of Hitlerism is becoming weaker and weaker.

"The occupied countries are rising in the struggle against Hitler. Soon this struggle will link up with the Allies."

MORALE OF RED ARMY STRONGER

The announcement said the morale of the Red Army had grown stronger and that "it burns with the determination to put an end to the Fascists."

It said the rear of the Red Army had been strengthened, too, with hundreds of new factories and that "the international position of the Soviet Union also has been strengthened."

"A coalition of the U.S.S.R., Britain and the United States has been created," it went on. "The Hitlerites' aims to split this coalition failed. The alliance with the United States and the Anglo-Soviet treaty has proved their strength during this year. Our relations with Britain have improved.

"The Soviet Union, engaging Germany's main forces, enabled the Allies to develop production and mobilize a mighty army. Our Allies are increasingly helping the Soviet people with material.

"Joint actions have taken place during the last months. Powerful blows from the East have merged with blows by the Allies in North Africa, while the Allied air forces deal blows on Germany and Italy."

Germany Blasted

broadcast Italian communique today reported also that the main Italian port of Naples had again been heavily hit, as had Foggia, a railroad city, and the other mainland points of Spinazzola and Reggio Calabria.

The Italian communique claimed twenty-six Allied planes were shot down.

While the Allied air arm thus was falling upon Sicily and the tip of the Italian mainland as it had fallen before with crushing effect on such islands as Pantelleria, official broadcasts from the Allied radio station in North Africa were warning the Italian people to clear away from war industries and centres of communication or face death from the air.

The Swiss radio as heard here reported that all but skeleton personnel already has been removed from the larger towns in Sicily and that a great evacuation had taken place from Naples.

Only three of the four-engined Lancasters failed to return on schedule and it was announced authoritatively tonight that all three of these had landed safely.

Meanwhile, the Air Ministry issued new reports on the results of raids which flattened German factories in the bomb-torn industrial Ruhr Valley.

Declaring reconnaissance planes recently gathered "striking evidence of devastation which has brought the Battle of the Ruhr to a climax," the Air Ministry said the "devastation of Germany's industrial towns is greater than anything known in any country in the world."

To get to Friedrichshafen, a city of 30,000 on the north shore of Lake Constance, the bombers flew a round trip of approximately 1,000 miles. This penetration into Germany was the farthest yet accomplished in force by the R.A.F. without losing a plane.

SECOND LONG TRIP FOR R.A.F.

It was the second long-range attack in as many nights for the R.A.F., which sent a big sky fleet more than halfway across France to blast the munitions centre of Le Creusot Saturday night, and other huge waves of R.A.F. bombers swept over the Channel in daylight today to continue the bombardment of Hitler-held territory. R.C.A.F. bombers took part in the Le Creusot raid.

Sunday night's raid was the first of the war on Friedrichshafen to be announced here. On August 13, 1940, Swiss reports said R.A.F. bombers attacked the Zeppelin factory and other arms plants at Friedrichshafen, but this was never confirmed by the Air Ministry or R.A.F.

The Luftschiffbau factory makes the German equivalent of radar, the radio-detection apparatus used by Britain and her Allies to locate enemy air and naval craft.

When the war broke out the Germans stopped making Zeppelins at Friedrichshafen and later the former Zeppelin works started producing radio-location equipment.

The Air Ministry said photographs of the plant taken today showed that all the main buildings, including a hangar 1,000 feet long and 200 feet wide, were hit and some were "very severely damaged."

Various parts of radio-location equipment were made in workshops assembled in the hangar, it was said. The works still were being expanded and a half-built workshop was among those hit.

Friedrichshafen is across Lake Constance from Switzerland, which reported waves of planes overhead during the night.

E. R. Hanna Plans For Fifth Loan

E. R. Hanna, of the National War Finance Committee, Ottawa, is at the Empress Hotel, to arrange for the Fifth Victory Loan which will open the last week in October, and to discuss the results of the Fourth Victory Loan with the local committee.

The response of the Canadian people to the Fourth Loan was magnificent and resulted in the huge total of over $1,300,000,000, he stated, of which $525,000,000 was contributed from the payroll savings and general sales sections.

Approximately a million and a half subscribers contributed payroll savings totaling $135,000,000 in the Fourth Loan which was $42,000,000 more than in the Third Loan.

"This is an increase of 45 per cent above the national average," Mr. Hanna stated.

British Columbia was above the national average with 80 per cent in payroll savings, and this was due chiefly to the "marvelous response of the shipyard workers and those in other war industries."

He commended the local committee under J. W. Spencer, chairman, and F. E. Winslow, vice-chairman, for the splendid increase in the Island's subscriptions.

Coal Strike

The miners were idle on a basis of "No contract, no work." Negotiations between their union and the operators had broken down, and the union rejected a proposal by the War Labor Board to sign an agreement making no provisions to satisfy demands for portal-to-portal pay.

Without coal there can be no steel, and the country's largest steel producer, Carnegie-Illinois Corporation, and its third largest, Republic, cut down their coke oven production in the Birmingham and Pittsburgh districts. Republic said four Southern blast furnaces were operating at only 60 per cent of capacity. It cut coke production in the Birmingham area by 50 per cent. Carnegie-Illinois, banking part of its Pittsburgh coke ovens, said its stockpile of coal still was reduced as a result of the early June walkout of the United Mine Workers.

CAPACITY PRODUCTION OF COAL NEEDED

The Office of War Information said coal "must be mined at full capacity" to meet current demands.

"It supplies more than one-half of the power and energy required to produce the weapons of war," O.W.I. said. "It creates nearly 55 per cent of the electricity used. It runs four out of five railroad locomotives."

Before a Congressional committee, H. A. Gray, deputy solid fuels administrator, said "an interruption in coal production for even a few weeks during the war would imperil the operation of countless railroads, public utilities and plants producing war goods."

Meanwhile, an estimated 3,000,000 tons of railroad-borne bituminous coal in transit were "frozen" tonight by fckes as a means of making fuel available to war industries and other essential users.

The order restored to full effect the directive issued by the War Production Board on April 30, which prohibited deliveries of certain railborne bituminous coal to consumers having more than ten days' supply.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores or any druggist and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (Adv.)

Y.M.C.A. Camp To Open July 16

With the need of developing sound bodies and keen minds becoming more urgent in wartime, the Y.M.C.A. boys' committee will open Camp Thunderbird, at Glinz Lake in the Sooke Hills, for the regular two-week period starting July 16.

Grant M. Paterson will be in charge of the camp, with the assistance of Jack Syme and Allan Braan. They will direct the activities of the boys, of from ten to seventeen years of age, through camp days that will begin at 7:30 a.m. and close at 9:30 p.m. with "Taps."

Activities will include supervised boating and swimming, hiking, study of wild life and campfire programmes. Applications must be made at the local Y.M.C.A. office before July 10, and campers must take their ration books with current coupons attached.

The camp itself consists of 320 acres of wooded and hilly land twenty miles from Victoria. The property contains Glinz Lake, with an area of fifteen acres. There will be a special hospital tent and permanent dining-room and kitchen.

Stolen Bonds Located

Bonds and war savings certificates with a total face value of $265 were found behind a wash basin in a room at the Station Hotel Sunday afternoon by Henry and Kue Yuen, who were about to carry out minor repairs to plumbing.

Detective Henry F. Jarvis discovered that the securities had been stolen from the office safe of Clark & Cordick, 2503 Douglas Street, on November 7, 1942.

Given Three Months

Moses Isaac Terence, Indian of the Shuswap Reserve, near Invermere, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment yesterday on a charge of possessing liquor on an Indian reserve.

Terence was arrested following the deaths of two Indian women, Lucy Stevens and Emmerance Eugene, in a fire that destroyed a shack on the reserve last Friday.

More fruit is being dried in the United tSates this year than ever before in its history in order to save transportation and storage space.

TWO-THIRDS of the total number of loans outstanding in Canada's Chartered Banks average less than $500 per loan.

Through bank loans, Canada's Chartered Banks help Canadians to benefit themselves, their fellows and their country. Many of these loans are small—but all contribute their share to the day-by-day activities of Canadian enterprise.

Some further facts about Canada's Banks:

Chartered Banks' loans related to agriculture as shown on the last official return to Parliament, totalled $340,118,473. This sum included loans to farmers, ranchers, fruit raisers and to grain dealers and grain exporters.

Every general manager today heading a Chartered Bank entered the bank as a junior in some small branch.

Up to and including February, 1943, no fewer than 6803 men and 154 women bank employees had enlisted in the armed forces.

Canadians in every walk of life and in every part of Canada are served by more than three thousand branches and sub-agencies maintained by the Chartered Banks to facilitate the nation's business.

Need of Housing in War Industry Areas Stressed

Mayhew Suggests System of Financial Aid to Enable People to Build Permanent Residences

OTTAWA, June 21 (CP). — When the night sitting of the House began, J. G. Diefenbaker (Progressive Conservative, Lake Centre) said an air training establishment had been built at Dandson, Sask., and housing was almost impossible to obtain. He felt wartime houses should be built there.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he wondered why it was necessary to set up a new organization to deal with the remodeling of old residences to make more accommodation available, when Wartime Housing Limited already was in operation. This meant duplication and additional cost.

Mr. Howe told A. M. Nicholson (C.C.F., Mackenzie) that Wartime Housing met immediate housing needs and should not be confused with the National Housing Act organization which assisted persons in building homes by Government aid in obtaining necessary loans.

Shifts in population due to war activities probably were temporary. Wartime Housing had built homes to meet the needs of workers in war plants. It did not have the function of developing large schemes to beautify cities but to meet an immediate need.

NO AREA CAN BE CALLED "SLUM"

The job had been well done, and no Wartime Housing area could be called a slum, and the occupants took pride in such houses. When the need passed the houses could be dismantled and moved elsewhere.

The policy had been to build and pay for water and similar community services. Of a total of $48,000,000 [illegible] $46,000,000 had gone for improvements to property.

Houses built numbered 15,802, and the average cost of both large and small houses was $2,229. Average cost of the two-bedroom house was $1,959.

The architects' fee in Wartime Housing was limited to 1 per cent of the cost of the project up to $1,000,000, when it was cut back to ¾ of 1 per cent.

Rev. Dan McIvor (Liberal, Fort William) said he had seen a Fort William home where the parents and seven children lived in two rooms. The wartime houses had been "a blessing," and many more were needed.

MAYHEW SUGGESTS PERMANENT HOMES

R. W. Mayhew (Lib., Victoria, B.C.) said there had been some wartime housing in Victoria and Esquimalt, B.C., and while it was not the type of housing that would be desirable as a permanent fixture, it was serving the purpose for which it was intended, the provision of comfortable homes for temporary workers.

He suggested that a system of financial aid to enable would-be home-owners to build permanent residences would be a practical course to pursue.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (N.D., Macleod) asked the minister what effect the proposed $30,000,000 housing appropriation would have on the lumber situation. He suggested more attention should be given to "the proper distribution" of available lumber supplies in Canada, and asked if much lumber was being exported or imported. He suggested the lumber price ceiling was not being enforced.

Mr. Howe said there was a shortage of lumber but enough for the low cost housing programme, and the Dominion Housing Act. He said he had no knowledge of how effectively the price ceiling on lumber was being administered and suggested that if Mr. Hansell knew of any infringements he should report them.

In response to a request from Mr. Diefenbaker, the minister gave the following breakdown of last year's expenditures for wartime housing by provinces:

Ontario, $25,659,000; Nova Scotia, $8,969,000; Quebec, $7,986,000; British Columbia, $4,833,000; New Brunswick, $1,367,000, and Saskatchewan $140,522.

PRIMARILY FOR INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

Replying to a question from Mr. Nicholson, the minister said wartime housing was primarily for industrial workers, but some 200 houses had been turned over to municipal authorities in certain areas for use of families of men in the forces overseas as a measure of co-operation in meeting an urgent problem involving eviction of soldier families.

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre) said there had been no wartime housing expenditure in Manitoba, although there was a pressing need for such assistance in Winnipeg.

Mr. Howe said the construction of permanent houses had been suggested in Winnipeg, but there was well-founded opposition to such a programme, and it was beyond the province of wartime housing.

C. E. Johnston (N.D., Bow River) said some people in wartime houses would like to buy them, but the minister had said that if the houses were used four years or so they might be considered as having served their purpose.

Mr. Howe said the houses were built for temporary wartime purposes and could only be used for other purpose by an agreement with the particular municipalities. Such agreements might be discussed with the municipalities after the war.

The Times Simla correspondent says selection of Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell was a surprise to India, but that responsible political opinion welcomes it. Indian Nationalists, however, dislike the appointment of a soldier, and there are misgivings that it may indicate absence of discussion of constitutional questions during his Viceroyalty. So far, Sir Archibald has been too preoccupied with military operations in India to become well known in India's public and parliamentary life.

Proposals for a compromise on the question of civil service unions being allowed to affiliate with the Labor party have been put forward by the Civil Service Clerical Association. The suggestion is that civil service employees should be allowed to affiliate with the Trades Union Congress by repeal of the Trades Disputes Act and leave over until the end of the war any questions of affiliation to the Labor party, thus avoiding political complications.

Editorially, dealing with the ever-green differences between Generals De Gaulle and Giraud, The Times says De Gaulle insists that the commander-in-chief must be under political control in accordance with French Republican traditions. He also wants to get rid of those officers holding North African commands who have still too much sympathy with the Vichy Government.

However, says The Times, everything that has happened in Africa has shown the futility of the Vichy regime and the failure of Marshal Petain's so-called national revolution.

One particular futility was the Riom trial, which followed the course of the Reichstag fire trial, wherein the accused became indomitable accusers. The Riom court has been dissolved and the accused ministers removed to Germany, where the Gestapo can enforce silence upon them.

WINNIPEG DOCTOR IN MEDICAL CORPS

Among Medical Corps personnel sailing to join field base hospital and ambulance units in Britain was Capt. J. C. Portnuff, Winnipeg. Captain Portnuff had "gone West" to Neepawa, Sask., to establish a practice before enlisting.

A permanent force man, Lieut. Roy Heppell, of Calgary, Alta., had been eight years with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at the Western city. He enlisted on outbreak of war.

Russian-born Lieut. Victor Schubert, of Weyburn, Sask., was a member of the South Saskatchewan Regiment that won fame at Dieppe. He went over in 1940, but returned just before the big show to train at Gordon Head, B.C., for his commission. He was born near battered Stalingrad, but his people became Canadians in 1924.

Other junior officers included Lieut. H. A. Edwards, of Winnipeg.

"On my way to the homeland again," was Pte. J. Petkevich, of Vancouver, in a Polish detachment of the Canadian forces. For him the road home had been a long one, a journey of more than twenty years in fact.

He left Poland that long ago and went to Harbin, Manchuria, with a group of railway builders from Poland. Some fifteen years ago he set out for Poland, but got only as far as Vancouver, where he decided to live and "see what Canada was like."

Now, at last, he said, he hoped to set foot on Polish soil, "maybe this year, who knows?"

Paterson in Quick Win

Captures Honors Via Kayo Route

GLASGOW, June 21 (CP).—Jackie Paterson, dour little "killer" from Glasgow, won the world's flyweight boxing championship and retained the British and Empire crowns all within a fraction of more than a minute.

Taking time out from his R.A.F. duties as sergeant and physical training instructor, the former Clyde shipworker wound up the bout with a sensational right-hand punch that brought the crowd of 3,500 to its feet and put Peter Kane, of Liverpool, flat on his back.

The knockout punch came sixty-one seconds after the opening bell in the scheduled fifteen-rounder held in an outdoor ring at Hampden Park, the world's largest football stadium.

Kane, who also is a sergeant in the R.A.F. and who held the world's flyweight crown for a brief period five years ago, never had a chance after landing a left in Paterson's face within the first second.

Canadians Place In Big Meeting

LONDON, June 21 (CP).—Canada placed twenty-two teams among the Empire's fifty best in the King George V Trophy and Imperial Challenge Shields competitions for 1942 in miniature rifle shooting for boys of the Empire, the National Rifle Association announced today.

The premier prize, the King George V Trophy, was won by South Africa, but the second top-ranking individual team was the Trinity College School Cadet Corps of Port Hope, Ont., with an average of 96.236.

Only Canadian trophy winner was the Beaconsfield Cadet Corps, West Saint John, N.B., which took the Earl Haig Sword for the best large junior unit in the Empire with an average score of 73.813 for the seventeen-man team.

More than 14,000 boys competed for the King George V Trophy which is awarded to the country showing the highest musketry efficiency in the Challenge Shields' competitions.

Other Canadian teams finishing in the first fifty in the King George V competition with their averages included: seventeenth, Winnipeg Cameron Cadets, 80.037; eighteenth, Slocan District Cadets, New Denver, B.C., 79.529; nineteenth, Fort Frances, Ont., High School, 79.481; twenty-eighth, Luseland, Sask., Cadets, 74.266; forty-second, The Pas, Man., High School, 70.275; forty-sixth, Stewart, B.C., Superior School, 68.375.

KEN WILSON DIES

TORONTO, June 21 (CP).—Ken Wilson, twenty-eight, former city editor of The Montreal Gazette, died suddenly Saturday in a hotel here. Mr. Wilson, who was attached to the British Security Commission in New York City, was the victim of a heart attack. Physicians who examined the body said such an attack was unusual in a man of his age.

Victoria West Pioneer Passes

One of the earliest pioneers of Victoria West, having arrived here on her honeymoon fifty-six years ago from Sussex, England, Mrs. Evangeline Elizabeth Pelling died at St. Joseph's Hospital on Saturday in her eightieth year.

Mrs. Pelling, whose husband was an old-timer on the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, resided in Victoria West until two years ago, when she moved into a small flat at 1429 Vining Street.

Here she lived alone, active and in good health, and doing all her own work, until she entered hospital six weeks ago. She was a member of the Methodist Church, now United, ever since she came here.

Mrs. Pelling is survived by three daughters, Mrs. W. S. Wood and Mrs. Roy Shields, of Victoria, and Mrs. E. G. Casey, of Olympia, Wash., and three sons, Lawrence and Leslie C., of Victoria, and Gilbert, of Seattle, and seventeen grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held in the chapel of Sands Mortuary, Ltd., on Wednesday at 1:30 p.m., Rev. H. W. Kerley officiating. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

JAPAN'S INTENTIONS

There is the possibility that the development of events will show that there is too much complacency among the people of the United Nations as a result of the victory in Tunisia. In some quarters the opinion prevails that the war is in its concluding stages, yet there is little to warrant this conception. The most that can be pressaged is that there has been a turn in the tide against the Axis Powers, but that does not mean that it would not be possible for them, by some new blow, to reverse the present outlook. The situation on the Eastern Front remains, and has remained for some months, in the nature of a stalemate. The Russians, since their advances following the raising of the siege of Stalingrad, have confined themselves to local attacks and air bombardments. The German tactics are somewhat similar. Neither side has launched the Summer offensive so often predicted. The possibility is that in each case the exhaustion reached during the Winter has necessitated more prolonged preparations than anticipated. It is two years today since Germany launched her treacherous attack on Russia. She has gained immensely by this through the conquest of the Ukraine and of considerable stretches of territory now behind her lines facing Moscow and Leningrad.

The possibility, perhaps more than any other, that must be worrying the United Nations is that of a Japanese attack on Siberia which could not fail to distract Russia from her campaign in Europe. No doubt Germany has been working hard to bring about this consummation. It is in the supreme interest of Japan, in her war in the Pacific, to keep the bulk of the forces of the United Nations preoccupied with the European situation, to prevent naval power being diverted to the Pacific Ocean; similarly, to insure that both land and air strength remains tied up in the struggle with the main Axis partner. The time may well be approaching when, with the prospect of allied offensives on the continent of Europe, Japan would deem it wise strategy to attack Siberia and thus relieve the German position in Russia. Apart from her war with China the armies of Japan remain comparatively idle. Nowhere, except on the most insignificant scale, are they engaged in repelling attacks. They have had ample time since their occupation of allied possessions in the Southwest Pacific to consolidate their gains, to fortify them against invasion and to make preparations for some new adventure. No offensive of any kind in the Pacific theatre could prove of more valuable assistance to German arms than the launching of war by Japan against Russia, for that could well mean, simultaneously, the opening of a new offensive against Russia in Europe.

No one trusts Japan or places any credence in any understanding she has with Russia. It is axiomatic that in recent months the Germans must have been exerting tremendous pressure on Tokio to enter into the struggle against Russia, and the fact that such a large Japanese army has been maintained in Manchuria indicates that this eventuality, when the time is considered ripe, always holds the spotlight. The precipitation of such a purpose never seemed more timely than it does at present, and that, so far, it has not taken place, may be the explanation of the comparative lull that has maintained on the Russo-German front for so long. The supposition may well be entertained that, whatever the elaborate preparations of the United Nations for offensive action, there are preparations, too, in prospect on the side of the Axis Powers, and in whatever logic there is in possibilities arising out of the latter, the most potent in its effects would be the launching of war against Russia by Japan.

A THREAT TO WAR EFFORT

There are 500,000 men on strike in the coal mines of the United States. Originally the claim which led to previous stoppages in this industry during the past six weeks was for an increase in wages of $2 a day with some other privileges. Now the claim is for $1.30 a day for what is described as "portal to portal" work. The War Labor Board has decided against this increase. The mines have been taken over by the Government, so, to all intents and purposes, the strike now is against the Administration. In some quarters all the blame for this lamentable happening is directed against the miners' leaders. In others the tendency is to apportion the culpability equally among the miners, the operators and the Government. Obviously there has been bungling somewhere to allow of a situation which, if continued, will paralyse the country's war effort.

A facet of the situation that has arisen is the anti-strike bill now awaiting the signature of President Roosevelt. He has until Friday next to decide what to do and then the proposed legislation automatically becomes effective. That bill makes strikes against the Government illegal. Were it put into operation miners and others in any government-operated industry who are on strike can be drafted for the army provided they are within the age limits. A procedure of this character would not solve the matter of coal production. It would only be a disciplinary measure, and this the miners know. Because of the importance of the industry to the war effort they believe that no such drastic step will be taken. In the meantime the deadlock, and not the first of its kind, confronts Washington. Why there is a disinclination to meet the miners' demand is the belief that satisfying them would lead other industries to make new wage demands, and so the upward trend of wages would reach a new crescendo with its consequent effect on the processes of inflation now well under way in the United States. Mr. Roosevelt is faced with decisions among the most important having to do with internal conditions that have ever confronted his administration during his presidential terms.

WOMEN'S FASHIONS

M. Gustave Lamartine, who in 1934 was head of the French Academy of Design, tells an interesting story of women's fashions in headgear in a letter to The Saturday Review of Literature. It is to the effect that he was then challenged by M. Max Gerhardt, an Austrian designer, who claimed that no headgear would be accepted by women unless it had "real, intrinsic beauty and appeal." M. Lamartine made a bet with him of 50,000 francs that he would design a "preposterous" headgear for women and that it would be accepted all over the world. He went to [illegible] and atrociously decorated hat," adorned with some unrelated feathers and flowers. He announced his design and it was "enthusiastically acclaimed" by the leading milliners of London, Paris and New York as "the birth of a new style." Within a year he found himself designing no fewer than eighty-four separate variants of what he calls "this unique head covering, each one more monstrous than the next." Here is his description:

"There was a deviation from all the known canons of artistic harmony; there were decorations protruding from decorations, colors clashing wherever possible; long feathers would bristle out at least a foot over the head. Moreover, the shape was not designed to fit the human head at all, and the hat could not stay on without artificial help. Sometimes the hat was pitched forward in such a way that it was impossible for the wearer to see anything except by tilting her head all the way back."

M. Lamartine won his bet. He kept his secret for some time and then only disclosed it to a couple of members of the French Academy of Design. They insisted it should not be disclosed any further. M. Lamartine, disgusted with this attitude, resigned from the Academy, gave up his interest in the field of millinery and woman's clothing and took up landscape architecture. The only reason he has made the origin of his "grotesque" design public now is because it is still in vogue and uses much material which would be better used were it to go into the war effort." The material is the wires for flower decorations, the long pins necessary to keep the hats in place and the rubber and elastic bands used instead of pins, and the miles of lace going into veils etc. Had it not been for the war M. Lamartine intended to carry his secret to the grave.

All this is an indication of how women's taste, perhaps even their judgment, can be dictated. The joke is on them and in an overall way. It would appear that in the matter of headgear women want something, anything, new, and are concerned least of all about its aesthetic appearance. Perhaps it is an indication as well that anyone could be a hat designer, provided he or she had a sufficiently grotesque imagination. M. Lamartine's disclosure should prove the death knell of those or who are leaders in the world of millinery. It will not, however, for women, where fashion is concerned, are like sheep and need persistent shepherding, whatever the direction.

MOTOR LICENCE FEES

The Alberta Motor Association is asking for a reduction in the provincial licence fee for motorists in the AA class of gasoline rationing. It is in the nature of an imposition that such motorists should have to pay as much for the privilege of driving their cars as others in more favorable gasoline categories. In Alberta, according to The Edmonton Journal, the Motor Association estimates that, with the present licence, insurance and overhead the AA motorists pays more than $1 per gallon for the 120 gallons of gasoline he is allowed yearly. Needless to say in that province, as has been the experience in British Columbia, pleasure driving has almost ceased altogether, save for those who have better gasoline categories than AA. It is right that such driving should be curtailed because of the gasoline shortage, but it is wrong that people who are restricted to using their motor cars for purely essential purposes should be taxed as heavily as others more favorably situated. The less a car is used, the less is the wear and tear on the roads. Provincial authorities should recognize this and impose graded licence fees according to the gasoline categories. Most certainly those in the AA class have a definite claim for some recognition of the restricted use to which they can put their cars. In such cases provincial governments should not continue to exact their pound of flesh.

Headline in a Coast paper: "Mackenzie King Launches All-Out Offensive Against C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative Parties." That is bringing the war home to Canada with a vengeance.

It is not true that Hitler has advertised for an astrologer who will hold off the Royal Air Force. What he said was that he wanted a night with fewer stars in it, and no moon.

Say what you will, the Luftwaffe knows that there are three active fronts in Europe, and that it is today holding none of them.

FROM: INTO BATTLE

The naked earth is warm with Spring,
And with green grass and bursting trees
Leans to the sun's gaze glorying,
And quivers in the sunny breeze;
And life is color and warmth and light,
And a striving evermore for these;
And he is dead who will not fight;
And who dies fighting has increase.

The fighting man shall from the sun
Take warmth, and life from the glowing earth;
Speed with the light-foot winds to run,
And with the trees to newer birth;
And find, when fighting shall be done,
Great rest, and fullness after dearth.

—Julian Grenfell.

NO FOOLS' PARADISE

The common problem, yours, mine, every one's,
Is—not to fancy what were fair in life
Provided it might be—but finding first
What is, and then prove how to make it fair
Up to our means: a very different thing!
No abstract intellectual plan of life
Quite irrespective of life's plainest laws,
But one a man, who is a man and nothing more,
May lead within a world which (by your leave)
Is Rome or London, not Fools' paradise.

—Robert Browning.

There is a certain relief in change even though it be from bad to worse; as I have found in traveling in a stagecoach, that it is often a comfort to shift one's position and be bruised in a new place.—Washington Irving.

If there had been a censorship of the press in Rome we should have had today neither Horace nor Juvenal, nor the philosophical writings of Cicero.—Voltaire.

THE WEEK

Summary: June entered its fourth week without either side in the global conflict committing main bodies to fresh action in the war. Masking what unquestionably were intense preparations, there was a good deal of propaganda in every theatre, but no decisive movement. Allied air blows rose in weight and importance, and were substan[illegible] the East, the Germans were repulsed in hard, though contained, local attacks in the Orel salient, notably at Mtsensk; and lost 276 planes in a week of hard air exchanges on communications and assembly points behind the lines. Russian machines rapped Bryansk, Unecha, Novosykov, Roslavl and other points, in a steady reply for Luftwaffe raids on their communications. German reserves were included in some prisoners taken at Mtsensk. In the Far East, Chinese troops drove the Japanese back along the upper reaches of the Yangtze Valley, clearing out the Tungting Lake area, recapturing Kungan and Owchihkow, and advancing to ninety miles southeast of Ichang. They announced 40,000 of the enemy had been killed in the recent Japanese thrust in Hunan, which has been turned back decisively, with renewed assistance of Allied air cover. In an isolated action near Canton, the Chinese took a number of Japanese positions, and held these against enemy counters. No change of position was reported in Burma, in New Guinea or elsewhere in the field; with the exception of the Mediterranean, where at the first of the week Lampione, the fourth Italian island to pass into Allied hands in the Sicilian triangle, was occupied without a shot fired.

In the air, however, the week produced a rising crescendo of attack from the United Nations' side. In this, Italy had the limelight. British and United States machines from Tunisia, Malta and elsewhere, laid down a systematic drum fire on Sicilian and Sardinian airfields, docks and rail-ferry terminals on a twenty-four-hour basis. The Italian mainland itself, from Naples south to the Gulf of Taranto, was visited with hard spot raids. Messina and Reggio Calabria were struck repeatedly by waves of Allied bombers, which chopped down fighter defences in unavailing attempts by the enemy to stem the attacks. Comiso, Syracuse, Sciacca, Milo, Sorrento and many other points were included in air attacks which devoted a considerable weight of explosive and incendiary bombs to Sicilian targets and their contact points on the Italian mainland. It was reported that both islands and the southern provinces of Italy, where martial law had been declared, were garrisoned in some strength, with a German stiffener to Italian troops in these areas. Civil unrest in Italy mounted, and was being appealed to by Allied leaflets dropped from the air. Back of the air attack in the South, the Mediterranean had been fully opened, and there was evidence that Allied ships and aircraft were taking full advantage of this in both eastern and western divisions of the inland sea. Mosquito bombers, with a range of 1,300 miles or better, were freshly based on Malta.

In the air also British, United States and Russian planes gave Germany continued applications of the medicine she had visited on Poland, the Lowlands, France and Great Britain in early stages of the war. Wholesale evacuation of civilian populations were reported in the Ruhr and Rhineland, notably from Duesseldorf and Cologne. Hard, fresh raids were rammed in on Oberhausen, Cologne (the 116th), Le Creusot and other points in both Germany and the occupied lands by night. Day sweeps made a tour of Bruges, Roubaix, Dismude, Calais and Abbeville. Photographs showed the Duesseldorf raid of last week had razed two square miles of the industrial heart of the city. Dutch, French, Danish and Belgian civil populations were warned by the Allies to stand clear of German munition and other factories, coming up on the target lists. From the Eastern side, Russian planes made nightly attacks against German forward and assembly points on the long front; and caused demolitions and fires far behind the lines at communication centres, where considerable damage was also reported. The Luftwaffe reply on Great Britain was officially described as weak. It consisted of several isolated attempts by light formations to reach the London area by night, and some scattered raids on the south coast. These were stifled, although some bombs were dropped and incidental damage was done.

In the Pacific also air warfare expressed most of the reported action. There, Japanese planes tried twice to wrest contro' of the air from the Allied command. Two clashes were fought in the Guadalcanal area, a week apart. In both, Japanese fighters were beaten decisively. On the second occasion, Wednesday last, they lost seventy-seven machines to seven of the Allies. A surprise raid on Port Darwin had similar results. There, Spitfires destroyed or damaged twenty-three of the enemy in an abortive enemy raid. Twice in the New Guinea area the Japanese tried again. They sent forty and fifty-plane formations against Allied positions at Bena Bena near Lae, only to be turned aside and driven back. More than 100 enemy machines fell to United States and British flyers in these encounters as a whole, for a decided reverse to the enemy in the air. Meanwhile Allied machines were not idle. Rabaul, Lae and Wewak were attacked by considerable formations, with a growing weight of bombs. Nauru Island, 650 miles distant from Allied control points, was visited by two attacking bomber waves, which did considerable damage to shipping and port installations. Enemy reconnaissance machines were intercepted over the Arafura Sea, and driven down. Kupang was bombed, as was Kendari in the Celebes. United States planes knocked out eight barges in the Huon Gulf area, where twenty were sighted and dispersed.

There was relatively little action at sea during the week. In the Atlantic, Allied escort ships and planes knocked out five enemy submarines in a pack that had attempted to intercept a convoy. Two submarines were seen to have been destroyed, and it is believed three others were damaged beyond the likelihood of [illegible] voy went through. In the Mediterranean, a French submarine put down a 5,000-ton Axis supply ship. In the Pacific, United States submarines were reported to have accounted, for twelve Japanese vessels in recent days, including one destroyer known to be sunk and another destroyer badly damaged. The attacks were made on Japanese supply routes. Planes also had their successes against patrol craft. In the Bay of Biscay, Mosquito bombers dropped a large German patrol plane and drove off three others in a damaged condition. Shipping off the occupied coast was raided and several vessels put down. Canal barges and trains formed other targets, all connected with enemy communications and supply.

Diplomatically, there was a great deal of rumor, but most of it unsupported. The Allies barred the Turkish-Syrian border traffic for forty-eight hours, but did not explain why. French patriots struggled for a working agreement in connection with the Committee of Liberation set up in North Africa, with some concessions on both sides. His Majesty paid a flying visit to British and United States armies, naval and air units in North Africa, where he was roundly cheered. His Majesty reviewed thousands of men who had participated in the Tunisian victory, went on board both British and United States ships, and spent some time on the fighter and bomber 'dromes, now tuning up for the next phase of the battle. He was accompanied to North Africa by the British Secretaries for War and Air. The sixty-seventh Victoria Cross of the war was awarded to Subadar Lalbahadur Thapa, of the Gurkha Rifles, who led a daring and successful attack against machine-gun nests which had been holding up the Allied advance at the Wadi Akarit in the Battle of Tunisia. In Canada, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek addressed both Houses of Parliament at Ottawa, in a speech in which she warned of Japanese sequestration of raw materials in the Far East. Plans looking to the creation of an East Asia Command among Allied staffs were mooted, and anticipatory steps taken in India, where Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell was named Viceroy of India, with General Sir Claude E. Auchinleck as commander in chief of British forces there. (The East Asia Command, if it is established, would be a companion body to the Pacific Command, and would have considerable forces at its disposal outside of the European theatre of the war.) Sweden reaffirmed its neutrality in the war. Lancaster bombers over Friedrichshafen capped a busy week in the air.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any time, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Card Rationing Will Come Soon—Card rationing is to be introduced in Canada shortly, it was announced by C. E. Mahon, superintendent of registration for British Columbia, tonight. One of the principal objects of registration, he said, was to provide a basis for the ration system and to facilitate its operation. Within the next few months, said Mr. Mahon, Canada will be brought to realize just how serious the war situation is. Rationing will come very early if the crop on the Prairies is jeopardized.

New Isolation Hospital—Work on the new isolation hospital being erected by the city on the site adjoining the Jubilee Hospital is progressing as rapidly as possible, and it is expected that before long the present wooden buildings on Cadboro Bay Road, on the hospital property, will be pulled down. Workmen are now laying the water pipes from Cadboro Bay Road to the new buildings.

Another Indian Rumor—A local fight is said to be going on between two tribes on the West Coast, which promises the extinction of one or the other. The master of a sloop, lately arrived, saw, it is reported, six Indian heads hanging up in a rancherie, the owners of which threatened to serve white men the same way if they interfered.

Observation Car

An economical resident of Heywood Avenue parks his coupe on the lawn and then washes his car and waters the grass at the same time. . . . Appointment of paid officials with long titles, and the passage of sundry emergency wartime regulations, has done nothing to solve the fuel shortage, except increase the prices of wood and coal. . . . Recent British Army tests showed that men who smoke and drink make just as good soldiers as teetotalers. It was also found that soldiers up to thirty-eight years of age frequently had more endurance but less agility than those in their early twenties. . . . Sir William Beveridge stated during an interview at San Francisco last week-end: "I know the temper of the people of my country, and I know they are resolved to fight wars on all fronts to the finish. The English are slow to start, but once started they will not be knocked out of line. We in Britain feel just as strongly about defeating the Japanese as we do about beating Hitler. You can count on us to go on." . . . Trucks are now able to average twenty-five miles per hour along the 1,600-mile Alaska Highway. The 10,000 United States soldiers and 6,000 civilian workmen built the road at an average rate of eight miles per day. . . . A new sulfanilimide derivative known as "vasosulfa" is being tested by the American Chemical Society as a nasal spray to prevent colds among war workers. . . . There is a large canteen near the city where a public address system is often used to caution customers seen parking their chewing gum on cups and saucers. . . . Two office boys gobbling coffee in a Broad Street cafe were heard discussing the letters "B.C." and "A.D." often seen after historical dates. "What would 'A.D.' mean if it was written after 1943?" one asked the other. "Adolf's decline, of course," his companion smirked. . . . From the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities bulletin: "Canadian and United States cities are surveying their traffic lights systems for possible elimination, as gasoline and tire rationing cuts driving to a minimum. Motorists are anxious for signal elimination which can be made safely, feeling they waste gasoline waiting for stop-and-go lights to change at intersections devoid of traffic."

Vice-Marshal Sir Keith Park, the island's air commandant, and Sir George Borg, its chief justice. He also presented a field marshal's baton to Viscount Gort, the island's commander-in-chief.

Perhaps the most moving part of the tour was the King's visit to the community of Senglea, called "Senglea the Unconquerable" ever since its stubborn defenders played a major role in defeating a Turkish siege in 1656. It suffered about the worst damage of any part of the island during the height of the German-Italian air attacks.

Surrounded by a group of shouting children, the King climbed the 100 steps to Victory Street, which commemorates the Turkish siege. There he was thanked for his visit on behalf of the townsfolk by Rev. E. Brincat, the parish priest, whose voice was husky with emotion.

The King's reply was drowned out by the chiming of the undamaged belfry of the wrecked Church of Our Lady of Victory.

As he looked into the eager faces clustered about him, heard the chiming of the bells and gazed down Victory Street on which no undamaged building stands, his shoulders squared inside the tunic of his white uniform of an admiral of the fleet and his face assumed an expression of pride.

Tonight there was an air raid alert; but the all clear sounded in five minutes without anything happening.

Race Riots

gas into the building as Negro snipers fired from windows.

With rifles on shoulders, helmeted soldiers filled several trucks. In all, aproximately thirty army vehicles were in the square downtown, including scout cars mounting machine guns, jeeps and ambulances.

Vicious fighting between negroes and whites, in which heads were cracked and limbs broken, had demoralized an extensive section of the sprawling "arsenal city."

The troops, a grim picture under the street lights, came on the scene approximately twenty-two hours after the start of th rioting Sunday midnight. Civil authorities had admitted the situation to be desperate, with police unable to cope with angry mobs.

Toward nidnight, however, Gov. Harry F. Kelly, at whose request the Federal troops were ordered into the city, returned with Mayor Edward J. Jeffries from an inspection of the worst affected areas and reported conditions much improved.

The dead from rioting, which was described by one authority as Detroit's "worst calamity," were twenty negroes and three white persons. The governor's 10 p.m. curfew had been ignored.

SEVERAL BATTALIONS ARE ORDERED IN

Wartime military censorship forbade disclosure of the source of the Federal troops. Several battalions were said to have been ordered in.

At a second negro apartment house, a mob of whites hurled stones through the windows. Military police, carrying sidearms and night sticks, took charge.

A negro apartment house was set afire. The blaze was extinguished, but then the crowd wrecked the establishment.

When proclaiming the state of emergency, Kelly had said the "armed force of the State of Michigan" would "aid and assist" civil authorities to keep the peace.

One of the negro victims was a young woman, killed with a brick near her home.

White mobsters set fire to the homes of two negro families and in a fight on a street a negro slashed a white man.

WHITE MEN OVERTURN POLICE CAR

A gang of white men, seeking to take two negroes from the custody of police in a scout car, overturned the car and set it afire. The two negroes and the police leaped to safety. The negroes fled.

Even as the proclamation of martial law was being framed, a military police battalion from Fort Custer had been taking stations in the city to assist state militia and the state and city police.

Kelly, who hastened here earlier in the day from the governors' conference at Columbus, O., issued his martial law order in response to demands for such action from citizens' groups.

Brig.-General William E. Gunther, head of military police for the Army's Sixth Service Command, arrived here late today. Kelly and Mayor Edward J. Jeffries asked citizens tonight in radio broadcasts to do their utmost to prevent further rioting.

TOTAL OF ARRESTS REACHES 600

The total of arrests tonight reached 600 as law enforcement officers sought desperately to bring the situation under control after widespread violence.

Earlier in the day when he originally had decided against martial law, Kelly had said: "We've got to stop this today if we're ever going to." Of the eleven dead eight were negroes.

One of the three white persons to die was a physician who was pulled from his car while trying to answer a call in the riot vicinity off Woodward Avenue, one of the city's arteries.

On Woodward Avenue just north of the downtown business district Monday afternoon, youthful mobsters entered the rioting, attacking whites and negroes indiscriminately, pulling trolleys off wires, and breaking windows in street cars, buses and automobiles.

TEAR GAS USED TO BREAK UP GROUPS

Tear gas was used in several instances to break up groups, one of them in Campus Martius just across Woodward Avenue from the City Hall.

Steel helmets and extra tear gas dispersal bombs were issued this afternoon to police patrolling the riot area, a section roughly three miles long extending to the east and north of downtown Detroit.

Shortly after issuing the proclamation, Kelly informed the public by radio of the imposition of a 10 p.m. curfew with all inhabitants of the counties of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb to be "off the streets" by that hour.

The three counties constitute the so-called Detroit metropolitan area, [illegible]

All places of amusement were ordered to close at 9 p.m. and "remain" closed until further orders." Sale of alcoholic beverages was prohibited. So also were public assemblies.

The Governor also said that no persons except for regular authorities" would be allowed to carry weapons.

WINDOWS BROKEN FOR TWENTY-FIVE BLOCKS

Earlier today groups of negroes and of whites milled about on street corners in a wide section bordering and northeast of downtown Detroit, hurling stones and bricks at passing automobiles bearing members of both races. Automobiles were overturned. Police reported every window on Hastings Street, "Paradise Valley" of the Detroit negro section, broken for a distance of twenty-five blocks.

All saloons in Detroit and suburban Hamtramck were ordered closed. Police directed pawnshop and hardware store operators to remove from windows and shelves all stocks of guns, ammunition and knives and to lock them in safes.

Inspector Robert Turner, harbor master at Belle Isle, said the rioting started at about 7:30 (P.D.T.) Sunday night on the broad bridge that leads from Jefferson Avenue to Belle Isle, popular recreation park in the Detroit River. Turner said the hot Sunday brought about 50,000 persons to the island, "90 per cent of them negro," and that there were several minor fights during the day. Turner said he believed a minor squabble on the bridge in the midst of the traffic jam probably caused the outbreak.

NEGROES TOTAL 149,119 IN CITY

The 1940 United States census gave Detroit 149,119 negroes out of a total population of 1,623,452.

There have been a number of minor racial incidents in Detroit during recent months and several strikes have occurred at war factories over the racial issue on production lines. The most important of these was early in June at the Packard Motor Car Company following which R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, declared in a speech that he had "absolute evidence" that it had been promoted by agents of the Ku Klux Klan, acting for the enemy.

conflict with the most optimistic Russian declaration yet. Pravda said the enemy's unconditional surrender "is not far distant." The newspaper warned "despair may drive the Germans to the maddest ventures."

Best British estimates placed German strength on the Eastern Front in the neighborhood of 200 divisions, including twenty divisions of satellite troops.

This force, compared with a peak of about 230 at the opening of the 1942 offensive, was regarded by one informed British observer as close to the minimum the Germans would need should the Red Army launch one of its powerful drives in the midst of an Allied attack from the West.

The German forces recently sent to France, it was believed, had come from the limited reserves available in Germany itself and not from the Eastern Front.

The four railway systems in the United Kingdom total 20,080 miles of track.

The bidding, as it actually took place, was:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠	2 ♥
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the diamond eight. A low card was played from dummy and East held up the ace, signaling with the diamond nine. Declarer won, laid down the spade king, then finessed to the jack. East won, cashed the diamond ace, then led a third diamond, which his partner ruffed. The heart ace, promptly laid down at this point, defeated the contract.

Here are our questions: (1) Was North's three spade bid justified? (2) Was South's bid correct? (3) Did South play the hand to the best advantage?

(1) North's three spade bid was the best action available, despite the fact that a double raise almost always requires four trumps. No better call could be made by North on the second round.

(2) South's bidding was acceptable. South might have answered originally with one diamond, but his actual spade response worked out better—or rather, it should have, had South played his four spade contract more adeptly.

(3) I have already indicated that South did not play the hand to the best advantage. The diamond eight opening was highly significant, and South should have feared the diamond ruff that eventuated. Thus, he should have devoted a greater part of his efforts toward shutting out that ruff. After winning the first trick, he should have cashed the spade king, then led low to the ace, resolutely declining the opportunity to finesse. Then it would be necessary to return the spade jack, trusting to a 3-3 break of the suit. If the actual break turned out to be 4-2, with either defender having two trump tricks, declarer could not help himself, but he would be in no acute danger, because dummy's heart king would protect him from the run of that suit and, even though he would make no more diamond tricks, he would have every right to feel that the club suit could be run off solidly. The crucial point, as mentioned, was to get out the trumps so rapidly that a diamond ruff could not materialize.

American Bomber Crews To Wear Vests of Steel

Armor Reminiscent of That Worn by Knights Of Middle Ages Will Save Lives of Many

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, England, June 21 (AP).—Following exhaustive experiments, the Eighth United States Air Force announced today that all crews of American heavy bombers are to be equipped with protective armor reminiscent of that worn by knights of the Middle Ages.

A London firm, which has specialized in sword-making since 1772, now is engaged in the manufacture of the equipment and it will be issued as rapidly as production permits, the announcement said.

The armor, consisting of a sixteen-pound sleeveless vest of manganese steel, already has been worn by some airmen on raids over Europe and is said to have proved successful under stern tests.

The vest is made of heavy canvas to which are attached small overlapping squares of twenty-gauge steel, giving complete coverage on chest and back. An apron, suspended by hooks from the vest, provides protection for the stomach and parts of the legs.

Pilots and co-pilots will wear only the half vest for chest protection since their backs are protected by the plane's armor plate. Bombardiers, navigators, gunners and radio operators will wear full vests. The aprons come in two types, full width for standing men, tapered for seated men.

The half-vest weighs seven pounds, the full apron six and a half pounds and the tapered apron four and a half pounds.

CAN BE SHED INSTANTANEOUSLY

The vest slips over the head and laces up the sides. With the pull of a string the whole gear can be shed instantaneously.

Lieut. Jack Fisher, of Fresno, Calif., a bombardier and one of the "guinea pigs" in tests, is one of its most enthusiastic exponents. Wearing the vest on the Wilhelmshaven-Emden raid on May 21, he saw a twenty-millimetre cannon shell explode inside the bomber two feet away from him. His vest looked as though a shotgun had been fired at it from close range but there was no penetration.

"The vest probably saved my life and certainly saved me from serious injury," he said. "I'm very grateful and feel all combat crews should wear this equipment."

Tests showed the vests stopped 45-calibre army pistol bullets fired from thirty feet.

About 2,500 Attend as Coast Aircraft Repair Plant Opened

Hon. E. W. Hamber Officiates at Ceremonies At New Westminster—Employs 1,000 Workers

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 21.—Official opening of the Canadian Pacific Air Lines aircraft repair plant here on Sunday was attended by about 2,500 invited guests, who heard several speakers tell of the vital work done in the prosecution of the air training plan and the defence of Canada, and they saw for themselves actual repair being done on PBY's, Bolingbrokes, Hurricanes, Lockheed Hudsons and other first-line R.C.A.F. aircraft.

In officially opening the plant, Hon. E. W. Hamber, a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said that the plant will be a large employer of labor and its physical properties, of a most modern type are employed in an essential and vital war task. Mr. Hamber disclosed that "the transport division of the Canadian Pacific Air Lines employs some 1,200 men and women and uses some eighty aircraft. The six air observer schools and one elementary flying training school operated under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, on a non-profit basis, has 3,500 employees. The five aircraft repair and engine overhaul plants have 2,500 employees, making a total of 7,200 employees in Canadian Pacific Air Lines." He added that the New Westminster plant, largest and most modern of the company's chain, has more than 1,000 employees and the number will soon grow to 1,500.

WHOLLY OWNED BY GOVERNMENT

George A. Thompson, general manager, said that the plant is wholly owned by the Department of Munitions and Supply and is the property of the Canadian people. Its design and equipment benefit from experience gained in the construction of all other similar plants in the Dominion and it has facilities for the overhaul and repair of all types of aircraft in operation today.

In the opinion of air Vice-Marshal Stevenson, air officer commanding Western Air Command, the opening of this plant will take care of R.C.A.F. requirements in this province for many years to come. "The work done here," he said, "is not as enjoyable as creating new machines but it is important enough that the plant can consider itself part and parcel of the R.C.A.F. Repair operations correspond to that done by surgeons, doctors and nurses who give new life to the manpower of Canada injured over Europe. The speed and efficiency of the Canadian Pacific plant are appreciated because every hour that a machine is undergoing repair means the loss of a training hour for an airman."

Former Railway Superintendent Dies in Victoria

A pioneer employee of the C.P.R. and former general superintendent of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, Harry E. Beasley, of 943 St. Charles Street, who resided in Victoria for over thirty years, died at his home early Sunday morning in his eightieth year, after a week's illness.

Born in Hamilton, Ont., in November, 1862, of United Empire Loyalist stock, Mr. Beasley was the grandson of Col. Richard Beasley, the first white settler in Hamilton, and his father was the first white child born there.

He joined the C.P.R. service in 1885, and was assistant superintendent of the Pacific division, with headquarters at Donald, B.C., where in 1891 he married Miss Katherine Griffith, daughter of Rev. David Griffith, North Wales, and sister of Mr. J. E. Griffith, who was later public works engineer for British Columbia.

In 1900, he was superintendent at Nelson, when he was called to Montreal, where to took charge of the office of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, for a year.

In 1902, he was made superintendent in Vancouver, and six years later, was transferred to Victoria, where he held the position of general superintendent of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway until his retirement in 1928, when he was made director of the railway.

In his early days a noted sportsman, Mr. Beasley was always a keen golfer, and until his health began to fail, an active member of the Victoria Golf Club. He was a member of the Union Club for many years, and also a member of the Canadian Club and of Western Gate Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Vancouver.

He is survived by his widow and three sons, Hal. B. Beasley, F/O. Percy M. Beasley, R.C.A.F., and Arthur G. Beasley, and a granddaughter, Gladwyn Beasley, all of Victoria; three brothers, Herbert H. and Charles E., Toronto, and Percy M. Beasley, Vancouver; and two sisters, Mrs. Annie Dennis, Montreal, and Mrs. Lily Rough, Montreal.

The funeral will take place today, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 10.15 a.m. for Christ Church Cathedral, where the service will be conducted at 10.30 a.m., followed by cremation at Royal Oak.

Seasonings.
Remove all six crusts thinly from loaf of bread. Cut loaf in five or six lengthwise slices. Make enough savory brown sauce (seasoned well with salt, pepper and scraped onion) to dress amount of sliced meat—using as some of the liquid in the sauce, part of the juice drained from the tomatoes. Dice meat small and add to the sauce just long enough to heat it. Use the meat and gravy as generous filling between some of the layers of bread (serve any extra gravy in heated gravy-boat). Fill other layers with hot tomato pulp or tender and yellow fried onions or fried mushrooms. When the whole loaf is assembled, pour thickened stewed tomatoes (seasoned with salt, pepper, a little sugar and if needed, a little onion) over the top. Serves eight.

Jubilee Juniors' Thrift Shop Sale Will Aid Hospital

A timely opportunity to buy Summer clothes is offered the Victoria people by the Thrift Shop committee of the Junior Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital. The convener, Mrs. D. H. Frith, announces that a half-price sale of every article in the shop will be held Wednesday morning and Saturday morning of this week. Only the best second-hand clothing is handled and among the stock are many war-restricted articles. Among the hundred and one articles for sale are men's suits, shoes, shirts, underwear; ladies' dresses, corsets, blouses, undergarments, stockings, shoes; babies' woolies, children's clothes, picture frames, books, cosmetics and toys.

The committee also announces that owing to popular demand the shop will remain open during the Summer months. Members will be in attendance every Wednesday morning of each week during July and August.

Mrs. P. H. Brown, retiring president, was chairman, and gave an excellent report of last year's activities. In expressing gratitude to the members of the Solarium Junior League, Mr. Henderson spoke of "indefatigable teamwork" of the league, mentioning the inspiration for the work lay "in the members' "ardent belief in the cause." He added: "The board of directors is profoundly conscious of the debt of gratitude it owes to the Junior League," and he enumerated the gifts and donations received during the past four years, since the inception of the Junior League.

Miss S. Laubach, administrator.

Mrs. P. H. Brown was the recipient of a corsage bouquet composed of gardenias and Talisman roses from the board of directors, and coupled with the thanks of the league for her efficient leadership was the announcement that she will be the recipient of a gift from the members at the next meeting.

Seated at the head table were the retiring officers, including Mrs. P. H. Brown, president; Miss Ruth Norton, vice-president; Mrs. P. Dunn, treasurer; Mrs. C. Miller, recording secretary, and Mrs. Fred Giles, corresponding secretary.

There was discussion regarding the parcels for the twenty-two local boys serving overseas with the 16th Canadian Scottish and it was decided to mail the parcels after the July meeting and enclose socks, cigarettes, chocolates and razor blades. The prize winners of the contest arranged for the benefit of the funds were as follows: Mrs. S. V. Henn, box of groceries; Ronald Smith, chicken; J. H. Lee, chicken; Walmsley, eggs; A. Cudneault, eggs. The entire proceeds from the contest realized $31.85, which, in addition to funds on hand and $1.70 for tea money and donation, brings the total to $48.55. Wool was purchased and distributed to members for knitting. Tea hostesses were Mrs. C. Sampson and Mrs. J. Whims.

Victoria Presbytery W.A.

Mrs. Bertha Parsons presided at the meeting on Monday afternoon of the Victoria Presbytery of the Woman's Associations held at Belmont United Church. Owing to the present difficulty of transportation, the meeting was smaller than usual, only five United churches being represented. Rev. H. W. Kerley addressed the members and asked them to interest their respective churches in holding vacation schools this year, saying that should the enrollment justify it, the Vancouver leader would superintend the work of the schools here. Rev. Mr. Kerley is sponsoring such a school at Belmont United in July. It is the plan of the W.A. to affiliate with the Dominion Woman's Association Council, with headquarters at Toronto, as soon as possible. A letter was read from the council putting forth various ideas to induce the young people and young married women to take an interest in the work of the W.A. Brief reports were given by the representatives present. The association meets three times a year; the final meeting and election of officers will be held on November 14. During the afternoon two vocal solos, "Bless This House" and "Under His Wings," were sung by Mrs. T. Hardy, accompanied by Mrs. T. Parsons. Refreshments were served by the committee at the close of the meeting.

W.B.A. Review, No. 19

W.B.A. Review, No. 19, Chemainus, recently held a business meeting, when a report of the dental clinic annual meeting was received from Mrs. J. McKay, the W.B.A. representative. Mrs. Millmore also gave a short report of a meeting of the Seamen's Club, of which Mr. M. Lamb is president and Mr. J. Chambers is secretary-treasurer. Members are representatives of different organizations and through the efforts of the Recreation Club the reading room for visiting merchant seamen is to be furnished and equipped with suitable reading matter. The various organizations are to provide one evening's entertainment for the crews from each ship. W.B.A. members were advised that they would be co-hosts with the local I.W.A. Mrs. Ada Murray was welcomed back to the review after a severe illness. Mrs. P. Erickson, Junior supervisor, reminded mothers of the Junior meeting, June 28. Immediately following the business session the review held a public memorial service for Mrs. Isabel Robertson, who joined the review in 1923 and was a devoted worker, despite her age, until shortly before her death in October, 1942. Mrs. G. Cook officiated for the occasion as guard captain in the absence of Mrs. M. Clunk, and also gave a eulogy to the departed member. Assisting in the work as pages were Review Juniors Chrisaie Syme, Betty Erickson, Aubrey McEwen and Alice Loughton.

Women's Institutes

VICTORIA

The June business meeting of the members of Victoria Women's Institute was recently held in the institute rooms with the president, Mrs. C. Johns, in the chair. Letters were read from the Canadian Broadcasting Association, the British Children's War Service Fund, Agricultural Production Committee and the Canadian Red Cross Society. Also the Women's Institute Bulletin. It was decided to ask the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to ration jam, marmalade, syrup and honey so that these commodities would be more equally distributed. The institute approved of the appointment of Mrs. Johns as a representative of the Women's Institutes on the board of the W.R.A.C. Members were urged to attend the Summer flower show to be held at the Crystal Garden this week and to exhibit flowers if possible. A report of the June meeting of the Local Council of Women was given by Mrs. Johns. War services sewing conveners reported the recent sewing bee very successful in doing some special sewing for Bundles for Britain, also more quilts finished and knitting and carpet slippers made for the Red Cross. Arrangements were made to make a wool comforter to raise money for war service work. Mrs. Muir gave a report of the May ways and means committee and a vote of thanks was given to her and her committee. The institute drama group will hold a special meeting on Monday in the institute rooms. The regular business meetings will not be held during July and August but the sewing meetings will be held each Tuesday afternoon when two members will be hostesses. Next Friday a social afternoon will be held in the institute rooms, the hostesses being Mrs. J. T. Sadler and her committee.

Honor Recent Bride

Mrs. E. Lehman, Niagara Street, was hostess when a delightful surprise kitchen shower honoring Mrs. W. Howlett, nee McLaren, was held. The guests assembled at the home of the former then called on Mrs. Howlett, who is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. McLaren, Niagara Street. The visit was a complete surprise and the honoree received many useful gifts, which were hidden in a pink and white shower umbrella. Present were Mrs. M. McClelland, Mrs. O. P. Davis, Mrs. W. Graves, Mrs. Eric Pattison, Mrs. Hugh Lawson, Mrs. R. Buckland, Mrs. A. Wallbank, Mrs. L. McLaren, Misses Alice Smith, Leah Noble, Dorothy McLaren, Jean Hamilton, Betty McLaren and Dorothy Hewlett. The early part of the evening was spent telling fortunes and singing, a dance bringing the entertainment to a close, the following gentlemen joining the guests: Messrs. W. Howlett, L. McLaren, A. Denton, A. Wallbank and E. Lehman. The hostess served a buffet supper.

Even in a righteous cause force is a fearful thing.

WEEKLY WARTIME NUTRITION HINTS

Martha Logan, Swift's famed home economist, whose weekly wartime cooking column is a regular feature of this page. Look for these valuable hints each Tuesday.

by Martha Logan

Chili Con Carne

Both as a "meat extender" and a "meat-user-upper," this is an aid to the menu

Beans—so important a part of Chili Con Carne—are one of the valuable meat alternates. And of course you can grind or dice meat trimmings or meat leftovers—using lean meat only—to provide the "carne" or meat. The recipe given will give you a mild chili—those of you who like "hot" dishes can double the amount of chili powder, or you might try adding paprika to taste.

The amount of meat—these days—is variable, too. If you have less meat, increase the beans' proportion and you will still have a nutritionally valuable dish. A cool salad—shredded cabbage and diced apple would be grand—is a delicious contrast to follow the chili. If you eat a hearty slice of Canada Approved bread with the meal and drink a glass of milk, you will have gone a long way to getting your daily minimum requirements of protective foods.

CHILI CON CARNE AMERICAN STYLE

Approximately 6 servings

1 lb. Kidney or Navy beans
4 large mild onions
1 lb. diced raw meat
2-4 tablespoons chili powder
4 tablespoons Lard or Shortening
1 can (2½ cups) tomato juice
Salt, pepper and garlic or garlic salt to taste

Wash and look over beans; soak overnight in cold water. Simmer gently in same water until tender. If you use raw meat, brown in hot fat then cook onions gently until delicately browned. (If cooked meat is used, brown onions first then add meat and sauté gently 5 minutes). Add the beans (including their liquor, probably 3½ to 4 cupfuls), tomato and seasonings. Simmer gently to blend flavours thoroughly. (For specially delicious flavour and to dispense with overnight soaking you might try one of the brands of dehydrated beans now on the market—follow directions on packet).

Burnside P.-T.A. Meets A.R.P. on Salvage Proposal

Following addresses by officials of the Salvage Corps of British Columbia, at a meeting of the Burnside P.-T.A. and District 3 A.R.P. wardens, held last night in Burnside School, a decision was made to arrange for a salvage drive in the near future to cover the Burnside district.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pease and Cmdr. J. S. Hincks explained the work of the Salvage Corps and the methods of storing and distributing salvage received. W. W. Mawle, a gas instructor and A.R.P. member, represented the P.-T.A. as president-elect.

Inspector A. H. Bishop, A.R.P. controller, and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, chief warden, explained the block system of A.R.P. organization, which was approved at the meeting and will be more fully discussed at a later meeting. The A.R.P. test to have been held in the district on June 28 will be postponed, Inspector Bishop said, but will be held within a few weeks.

At that time, he said, the telephone service will not be used, in order to test the capacity of the district messenger service.

It was also announced last night by Inspector Bishop that the Victoria School Board had granted the A.R.P. organization the use of the Victoria College basement as a poison gas cleansing station. It is one of the most adequate sites in the city, he said, and will be equipped with necessary materials by the A.R.P.

"This was made possible by the co-operation of the school board and H. L. Campbell, municipal inspector," he said. "They have always given the A.R.P. here all possible assistance."

Boy Finds Smoke Bomb

Mrs. A. McLeary, 2930 Bridge Street, reported to police Sunday afternoon that her young son had found an eleven and one-half pound smoke bomb, presumably dropped by a plane.

It was brought to the police station by Constables Charles Webb and Stanley Holmes, and later claimed by the R.C.A.F.

That Body of Yours

AN EPIDEMIC OF PLEURODYNIA —FALSE PLEURISY

Some years ago I wrote about an epidemic of pleurodynia in England. Pleurolynia is an inflamation with pain in muscles of the chest. It is sometimes called false peurisy—pain in lower part of the chest and upper part of abdomen, pain on breathing and with any movement of chest muscles. At that time it was considered an infectious disease, but as symptoms were light, lasted but a short time, and no bad effects followed, nothing more was heard about it.

It is interesting to learn that an epidemic of pleurodynia is reported in Brooklyn, N.Y., by Drs. Tasker Howard, Charles A. Weymuller, John Edson, Elizabeth Ittner, Janet Watson and Mary L. Cassidy, Long Island College of Medicine, in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Cases of this disease began to appear in the Red Hook section of Brooklyn in July, 1942. To date at the Long Island College Hospital, 166 cases were observed, of which forty were admitted to hospital. Apparently there were more nose and throat symptoms in these Brooklyn cases than those reported in England, Norway, and some parts of the United States.

"The prominent symptoms in adults were fever, severe pain in upper right side of abdomen or lower part of the chest, or both, sufficient to make breathing painful and difficult. The abdominal symptoms were frequently so severe that surgeons were called into consultation. The recoveries were prompt, often within twenty-four to forty-eight hours, though further attacks of pain and fever often occurred." In a number of these adult cases, headache, dizziness, lack of interest, and fear of light occurred.

In children, in addition to fever, and pain in upper abdomen and lower chest, there was sometimes very difficult breathing, vomiting but no diarrhoea, severe inflammation of the throat, and quick and complete recovery. In most of the infants violent convulsions occurred. Fortunately for physicians, parents and child the convulsions quickly disappeared.

I am passing this information along as the symptoms are so severe that the patient suffers as much as if he had heart disease, pleurisy, gall stone colic, or a surgical condition of the abdomen. That these symptoms disappear so quickly and leave no after effect is much for which to be thankful.

However, when these or similar symptoms appear, the family physician should first be called as an examination will show whether they are due to pleurodynia or something more serious.

Finance–Commerce–Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP).—Stocks generally moved over a moderately lower trail in today's market without attaining anything like real speed.

Dealings were slack from the start—it was another one of the slowest full sessions this year—and, while minor recoveries from the worst came into the list in the final hour, closing losses of fractions to more than a point dominated the proceedings.

Again it was a case of buying timidity rather than selling urgency. Brokers suggested various reasons for the drifting tendency which got under way about two weeks ago. The latest deterrent was seen in the widespread coal mining work stoppage with its threat to steel mills and many other industries engaged in armament activities. Remaining as arguments against extending commitments unduly were expected important European developments and thoughts regarding the widening of price controls as an anti-inflation measure.

The Associated Press sixty-stock composite was off .4 of a point at 50.1, or about the figure of mid-May. It was a descent of 2.1 points from the peak established on June 3.

Breadth was lacking in today's operations, only 837 individual issues being traded. Of these, 558 were down, 124 up and 155 unchanged. Transfers aggregated 714,540 shares, compared with 682,590, which were the smallest since early January.

They Have Reason to Be Happy—They're Rescued

Their bomber was forced down near the island. In the background are the leaf huts in which the men lived. Natives also can be seen.

Multiple Levies

Face the Problem Now

The extent to which your Estate will attract Dominion and Provincial Succession Duties, and the Income Taxes your heirs may have to pay on distributions made to them, will depend considerably on the nature of your assets and the terms of your Will.

Needless loss of part of your life savings may be avoided by having us review your Investments and your Will, in the light of existing Tax Laws, and advise you what adjustments could be made to minimize the burden of multiple levies.

We would be glad to give you an estimate of Succession Duties on your present assets, after allowing for the residue of 1942 Income Tax and other liabilities, so that you may see what might be left for your dependants.

You are welcome to consult us in confidence at any time without obligation.

Glancing Over — Sport —

By JOE DELAHUNTY

DUBS FACES TOMMY BURNS

Victorians will have the opportunity of seeing two boys, both young and highly ranked in the pugilistic world, battle it out for the Canadian welterweight boxing championship here next month. It will bring together Harvey Dubs, of the navy, and Tommy Burns, of the army, and the lads are booked to swap blows for ten heats for the title which is now vacant. Al Lust, of Calgary, who claimed the crown, is now in the Old Country and in the army, while Dave Castilloux, of Montreal, has graduated from that division. . . . Promoter Jack Price stated yesterday that the bout will be either held at the Royal Athletic Park or at the Sports Centre at the Willows. The open-air enclosure is expected to get the bid. Both boys will start training immediately and Burns, who hails from Vancouver, will be over here several days beforehand so the ring experts may get a glance at him in action with his sparring mates. The Mainlander will arrive in the city with ten straight knockouts to his credit and he is expected to give Dubs all he can handle over the distance. In his last time out Dubs was overmatched when his manager from Windsor sent him into the ring to argue it out with his much heavier opponent, Leo Wadsworth, from Hamilton. However, there is no overmatching in the forthcoming championship mix for both fighters must weigh in the day of the fight at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at 147. . . . Thirty-five rounds of boxing will be presented to the fans and plenty of fireworks should be witnessed during the evening. An outside referee will most likely be brought in to handle the main event.

ODDS AND ENDS

Greg Rice proved no match for the famous Swedish runner, Gunder Haegg, the first time out. The ace of the United States track and field men was outdistanced by nearly fifty yards in the 5,000 metres. The Swede wasn't even pressed as he jogged along to victory without the least bit of trouble. However, they will meet several times before Haegg returns to his native land, but I doubt very much if Rice will ever win a single decision no matter what distance they travel. . . . A member of The Colonist staff showed the way in the annual Graphic Arts golf tournament on Sunday at the Colwood course when G. Thom came through with a net score of 62 to win by four strokes from Les Colton and Bob Johnson. Bob Morrison, who has been in the navy for some time now, and one of the leading shotmakers in Canadian golf a few years back, topped the gross scorers with a round of 81, considered pretty good seeing that he isn't playing the game much these days. . . . Baseballer Jack Bacon, Jack Caddell and Joe Hibberson were right on Bob's heels but just couldn't catch him during the scramble. . . . Len Weeks, sports editor of The Vancouver News-Herald, dropped into the office yesterday. He is over here on a holiday and will return to the Mainland today. He says Bill Fletcher and Gordon Kelly, two former members of this editorial department, are getting along fine in Vancouver. Bill is now city editor of The News-Herald. . . . Bill Herbert, announcer for Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and a scribe on this paper at one time, was in the city a few days ago. He is hoping to put the annual Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament on the air when it is held here at the Oak Bay links next August. If that happens it will mark the first time in history that the granddaddies of the fairways will be aired.

GOLF HAZARDS—1943 MODEL

As the warm days become more frequent and the buds burgeon into bloom, many a person, no doubt, will sigh: "Gee, I wish I could get out to the golf course," or, perhaps, "Gee, I wish there were a golf course to get out to."

As the war has reduced the number of golfers, and of golf courses as well, the ex-lord of the links, resting for a moment amid his Victory garden plans, might ask himself, "How fare the golf courses in England?" In the event that question should arise, there is a course in England which provides a clue to the answer.

The Richmond Golf Club, near London (one of the courses which is not serving as an encampment, but is used still for its original purpose), has a set of wartime rules that should interest the American golfer.

Among the regulations are the following:

Players are asked to collect bomb and shrapnel splinters to save these causing damage to the mowing machines. In competitions, during gunfire or while bombs are falling, players may take cover without penalty for ceasing play. The positions of known, delayed action bombs are marked by red flags at a reasonably, but not guaranteed, safe distance therefrom. A ball lying in a bomb crater may be lifted and dropped not nearer the hole without penalty.

The club's rules committee apparently has overlooked nothing. "A player whose stroke is affected by the simultaneous explosion of a bomb," reads another of the rules, "may play another ball from the same place. Penalty, one stroke."

"If there are any golfers hereabouts fortunate enough to be able to get to and from their favorite courses, their grumblings about transportation inconvenience, we hope, will be less audible. Give a thought to the Richmond (England) Golf Club duffers, and be of good cheer.

Navy Beats Eagles As Race Tightens

Chalks Up 9-7 Baseball Triumph And Closes In on Army Squad

HOW THEY STAND

	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
V.M.D.	12	9	3	.750
Army	12	8	4	.667
Navy	12	7	5	.583
R.C.A.F.	12	5	7	.417
Eagles	12	1	11	.085

Last night's score:
Navy 9, Eagles 7.

Tomorrow's game:
6:30—Navy vs. V.M.D., Royal Athletic Park.

Senior baseball nines reached the halfway mark of the 1943 pennant chase last night at Royal Athletic Park, with only two games between the top three clubs, and plenty of keen competition promised before they wind up the regular schedule and move into the post-season playdowns for the Rithet Cup, symbolic of the city championship.

Royal Canadian Navy defeated the Eagles, cellar occupants, 9-7, last night, to move closer to the second-place Army club in the flag race. Troops are a single game back of the champion V.M.D. baseballers.

Still a little wobbly infield, but certainly an improved club, Birdmen gave the bluejackets plenty of opposition, and with a little steadier support Jack Diamond, their starting hurler, would probably have won a ball game. As it was, the Eagles threw a scare into the Navy lads in the final frame, with the result that Jimmy Dumeah, their ace flinger, was called to the rescue.

Elongated Jimmy Jinks, sailors' opening pitcher, who had trouble all evening finding the plate, did not improve during the game, and in the ninth session became just a little too generous for Coach "Whitey" Menard. Jinks walked four batters in the last frame before he was yanked in favor of Jimmy Dumeah. The relief pitcher took over with the sacks populated and walked in one run when he issued free transportation to Manager George Syrotuck, the first batter to face him.

TROUBLE IN THIRD FOR THE EAGLES

Eagles bumped into trouble in the last half of the third frame, when a little sloppy infielding gave the bluejackets a break, and before the cellar occupants pulled up their socks four runs were in. That was the ball game.

In the first two sessions and the other six frames the birdmen turned in errorless ball behind the fine pitching of Jack Diamond, shooting for his first win of the season.

Diamond hurled seven-hit ball for the Eagles before being taken out of the eighth for "Major" Bowes, who later took over the mound chores.

Jimmy Jinks pitched five-hit ball but issued an even dozen free trips to the initial sack.

One of the fielding highlights of the game was Clint Hodges' one-handed catch of Jack Walker's stinging line drive in the seventh frame.

Game was thirty minutes late in starting because of a dispute over the playing condition of the diamond at the Caledonia Avenue ball yard. Many ball fans went away when the "canceled" sign was posted on the board, while others, on hearing that the game was finally being played returned to the park, annoyed at having missed some of the fixture.

V.M.D. and Navy will open the second half of the McGavin Cup schedule when they meet tomorrow evening at Royal Athletic Park. Well rested since their last tough game, Jimmy Dumeah and Tommy Musgrame will probably be the opposing hurlers. Game time is 6:30 o'clock.

Margin for Victory at Ebbets Field, New York

Nieman, of the Boston Braves, just manages to beat the ball, sliding into home plate on Andrews' hit to the outfield in the seventh inning of the first game with Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field, New York. Catcher Owen Waits has his hands outspread for the ball, which can be seen just beyond his glove. Umpire Jorda, who keeps a careful eye on the play, calls the runner "safe." The Braves scored two runs in this frame, which added to their first inning to give them the four by which they beat the Dodgers, 4 to 3.

Dangerous Driving

Trial of H. Montesano, a soldier, on a charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public along Wharf Street on June 16, commenced yesterday in city police court and will be resumed tomorrow morning.

C. F. White, a member of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires, testified that an army vehicle in charge of the defendant crashed into his car at Wharf and Bastion Streets and caused damage estimated at $50.

An army officer sought to defend Montesano in court, but was informed by Magistrate Henry C. Hall that the privilege was only extended to members of the bar. A remand was then granted.

Rainiers Win Pair

Seattle Takes Two Fixtures

Seattle Rainiers came to life again to take both ends of a double-header from San Diego Padres, of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, 9-8 and 3-2, winning both games with late rallies. In the opener the Rainiers rallied in the ninth to score five runs and tie the score and then put over the winner in the first extra frame.

Babe Herman's pinch single with two out in the last inning of the second gave Hollywood a 3-2 victory over San Francisco after the Seals had taken the first game 5-1. Tom Seats won his seventh game of the season without a defeat in the opener.

Oakland threw away the first game 4-3 by committing four errors, but came back to blast a 5-2 victory over Los Angeles in the second of the two league baseball games, each of which went an extra inning. The split put the game count in the series at 5 to 2 for the Angels, with one ten-inning tie.

Portland Beavers tightened their grip on fourth place with a double victory over the Sacramento Senators, 4-1 and 8-2, in a Coast League double-header.

Alex. Murray Will Referee Tonight's Football Fixture

ALEX. Murray, of Vancouver, has been chosen to referee the final match of the Solarium Trophy series this evening between the Royal Air Force and the Victoria Machinery Depot at Macdonald Park at 6:30. The teams have met three times in the series already but the last time out they failed to reach a decision, the game ending in a two-all tie. In the first encounter the R.A.F. won by a 5-2 score but the shipyarders came back and took the second battle by the same score. Due to the keen rivalry between the clubs it was decided to bring in a Vancouver man to handle the match. Pearce and Whyte will run the lines. A large crowd is expected at the James Bay enclosure as the trophy winner will be definitely settled this evening as overtime will be played if necessary. The president of the Solarium Junior League will be present to pass along the silverware, which was donated by Alderman John Worthington, to the captain of the winning side.

V.M.D. will have the following on hand: Evans, Singer, McGeachey, Peffers, Harris, Barnswell, Dougan, Blakeburn, Parks, Payne, Clarkson, Morgan and Reside.

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

EVERY time he sees a reference in a newspaper to carrier pigeons a friend of ours clips it out, rings with a pen or pencil the word "carrier," and sends it along. This is a hint that we should resume our campaign to explain to the public the difference between pigeons used on active service in time of war, and for racing in time of peace, and the pigeon known by fanciers as the carrier. It would appear that not one person in a thousand understands the difference. The carrier pigeon is a monstrosity of the show pen, large, clumsy, tight-feathered and unable to fly to the top of a house, with grotesquely exaggerated eye and beak wattle. A hundred years ago, this bird, which itself was originally a racing pigeon, was crossed with other breeds to produce the pigeon we know now as the homer or racing pigeon, the real athlete of the pigeon world.

Thom Captures Annual Tourney

Finishing four strokes ahead of his two closest competitors, G. Thom, member of The Colonist staff, captured the honors in the annual Graphic Arts golf tournament on Sunday at the Colwood course with a card of 98-36—62. He was the winner of the handsome Norman Hall Trophy. In the runner-up berth came Les Colton and Bob Johnson with net scores of 66, while Bob Morrison turned in the lowest gross score for the distance with an 81 to edge out Jack Bacon by a single stroke. Jack Caddell was third on the list with an 83 and Joe Hibberson fourth with 84.

The annual dinner and presentation of prizes took place in the evening in the clubhouse at which ninety-five were in attendance. Doug Ritchie acted as master of ceremonies and Lorne Graham, of Vancouver, presented the prizes.

GRAPHIC GOLF

By BEST BALL

IRON PLAY

Long iron shots place a premium on a firm grip and straight left arm at the moment of impact for the ball must be hit decisively for good results. In many instances, there is shock to the impact which would destroy the clubhead alignment with anything but a steady hold on the shaft. Bending slightly over the ball, knees a trifle flexed to relax the body and the stroke, with hands in fairly close to the body, not only gives the golfer a more efficient swinging position but allows greater smoothness and more shock absorbing qualities.

Spectacular Race In Formby Hit

George Formby is at the Atlas Theatre in his usual characterization of a simple Lancashire lad.

Formby, a young chimney sweep's help, has ambitions to win a T.T. race. He gets the opportunity and in doing so meets with many and varied adventures. Florence Desmond is the feminine lead, bewitchingly charming as one of the boy's enthusiastic supporters.

The story, written by Walter Greenwood, author of "Love on the Dole," lacks nothing in humor and provides the two stars with perfect roles.

The race sequence at the end of the picture is a spectacular piece of filming. Crashes, skids, and innumerable accidents combine to give the picture an exciting flavor. Formby's antics, whilst "riding off" his opponents are the last word in high-spirited fooling.

YORK THEATRE Something different in the way of mystery romances is being presented at the York Theatre with the showing of "Haunted Honeymoon," based on a best-seller thriller by Dorothy L. Sayers, and starring Robert Montgomery in a role decidedly different from any this versatile actor has ever attempted before. Constance Cummings is co-starred as Montgomery's wife.

RIO THEATRE "Orchestra Wives," which is on showing at the Rio Theatre, is a jam session of laughs, love and alluring young ladies highlighted by the music that all America loves to sing and swing to, the music of Glenn Miller and his Band. Co-starred with Miller are George Montgomery and Ann Rutherford.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES A Chinese lullaby 3,000 and more years old which mothers sang to their children when the men folks were drafted to build the Great Wall of China, is one of Deanna Durbin's musical numbers in Universal's "The Amazing Mrs. Holliday," now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. The lullaby, "Mong Diang Nui," has been given a slightly different tempo and new lyrics by Madame Rosalynde Chang, technical adviser to the photoplay.

DOMINION THEATRE Charles Laughton plays one of his inimitable butlers in "Forever and a Day," an exciting story of romance and adventure based on the theme "There will always be an England." The story is told in a series of related episodes covering the period from 1804 until the Battle of Britain in 1940. The picture, which boasts a cast of seventy-eight noted players, is now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE "Hello, Frisco, Hello," 20th Century - Fox's new Technicolor filmusical starring Alice Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie and Lynn Bari, is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Laird Cregar, June Havoc, Ward Bond and George Barbier are featured in the colorful film which Bruce Humberstone directed.

CADET THEATRE Two great radio programmes, two top name bands and six of radio's most popular personalities are united in the supporting cast of RKO Radio's "Seven Days' Leave," in which Victor Mature and Lucille Ball are starred. Heading this aggregation is Harold (Gildersleeve) Peary. The picture, now at the Cadet Theatre, deals with the efforts of a recent enlistee to marry a girl he has never met in order to inherit a $100,000 fortune.

Army Show to Be Here Next Week

"The Army Show," Canada's big fighting—as well as fun-making—all-soldier revue, comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 29 and 30. Following its local engagement, "The Army Show" will move on to the next stop on its coast-to-coast tour and may possibly be seen in the United States at the termination of its Canadian engagements. Ultimately the entertainment will fulfill its primary purpose, which is "the entertainment of Canadian troops wherever they may be" by going abroad to amuse Canadian soldiers stationed overseas.

Entire personnel of "The Army Show," which, incidentally, includes some two dozen lithe and lustrous members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps serving as chorus girls, has completed initial military training. While on tour, lectures are given while traveling, and other phases of army activity, including route marches and parade ground drill, take place at stopovers.

Capt. William Wren, whose title is administration and training officer, says of "The Army Show" members:

"It is just as important that they be good soldiers as good entertainers—and we think they are both."

Writers of the dialogue of the revue, many of its outstanding song numbers, and actively participating as performers in "The Army Show" are Sgts. Frankie Shuster and Johnnie Wayne, a versatile comedy pair; Raymonde Maranda, singing "find" of the C.W.A.C.'s; Jimmy Shields, tenor; Russ Titus, baritone, and a big army band under the direction of Capt. Robert Farnon.

The chorus of "The Army Show" has been trained by British-Columbia-born Aida Broadbent, now a well-known Hollywood dance directress, the costumes have been designed by Ronnie McCrae, and the scenery by Pte. Art Price. Musical numbers, aside from those contributed by Shuster and Wayne, are by Capts. Robert Farnon and Freddie Grant. Supervision of the entire vast production has been under the direction of Jack Arthur, Toronto showman, who was loaned to the army by Famous Players.

There are about 106 parks in Buenos Aires, largest city of Latin America.

Haegg in Easy Win Over Rice

Swedish Runner Captures Event

NEW YORK, June 21 (AP).—Gunder Haegg gave American track fans their first glimpse of the speed and stamina that carried him to seven world records as he soundly whipped the United States' pride and joy, J. Gregory Rice, at the National A.A.U. championships.

The gaunt Swede set virtually all the pace in the 5,000-metre run and crossed the finish line forty metres in front of Rice, going down to his first defeat in his last sixty-six trips to the post.

Haegg's time of 14:48.5 was far off his world record standard of 13:58.2, but his seemingly effortless stride captured the fancy of the crowd, estimated by officials at 19,000. He took the lead after the first 200 yards and, except for a few strides near the mile mark, he never was headed. Fred Wilt, formerly of Indiana, was the momentary leader.

Rice also was far back of his best time for the distance. He was clocked in 14:53.9, as compared to his meet record of 14:33.4. He suffered a stitch in his side on the eighth lap of the twelve-lap race, but showed little evidence of it as he struck back in the last quarter mile.

Haegg, who, like Rice, said he was not in the best of shape, said it was the hardest race he had ever run since he had to force himself all the way.

The American debut of Haegg was the high spot of the meet that saw all of the net receipts, estimated at more than $70,000, going to the Army Air Forces Aid Society. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Force, was among the notables on hand to cheer Haegg's performance.

Hal Davis, Olympic Club flyer from San Francisco, turned in the only record performance as he and Bill Cummins, Rice Institute hurdler, won two events each. In winning his sixth and seventh A.A.U. outdoor sprint crowns since 1940, Davis matched the meet record of 10.3 he holds jointly with Barney Ewell in winning the 100-metre title and cut one-tenth of a second off the world 200-metre record only to have it disallowed because of a strong following breeze.

The West Coast sprinter flew down the 200-metre straightaway in 20.2 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than Jesse Owens' international standard.

Cummins came through in the 110-metre high and the 200-metre low hurdles, winning the first in 14.3 seconds and the latter in 22.8—both by comfortable margins.

Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, only man ever to clear fifteen feet in the pole vault, did it for the thirty-seventh time in taking his specialty at fifteen feet. He failed on three attempts to better his championship mark of 15 feet 2 1-2 inches. His outdoor mark is 15 feet 7 3-4 inches.

Season Opens At Arlington

CHICAGO, June 21 (AP).—Arlington Park opened its 1943 racing meeting, most pretentious in Chicago's history, at Washington Park today to solve a perplexing transportation problem.

Ended, an outsider, scored an upset victory in the $5,000 Added Myrtlewood Handicap, the meeting's first stake race.

Ended, a four-year-old colt owned by James Lyons and William Robertson, of San Mateo, Calif., went to the front in the three-quarters of a mile dash soon after the break and stayed there, defeating L. B. Mayer's favored Thumbs Up by a length and a quarter, with Mrs. A. M. Creech's Sales Talk third. Harvard Square, owned by Allen T. Simmons, of Akron, Ohio, was fourth in a field of eight.

Ended returned $41.20, $12.00 and $8.00, with Thumbs Up paying $4.20 to place and $3.80 to show. The show price on Sales Talk was $8.00. The winner sprinted the distance in 1:12 2-5.

Special trains on an electric suburban system carried thousands of race fans twenty-nine miles from downtown Chicago to Washington Park, Arlington Park's sister course, where the Arlington meeting will be conducted for thirty-six days.

Today's attendance was estimated at 8,000. The betting was approximately $100,000 below last year's opening-day figure when $480,000 was wagered.

Whirlaway, Warren Wright's all-time money-winning champion, will make his first start of the 1943 season tomorrow, competing in a $2,500 allowance event of a mile.

"Today is monkeys Tuesday . . . or what?"

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER LXII

She smiled her slow Oriental smile, spread her hands appealingly. "Not a line or a note——"

"I sent you a note, following up that talk we had before you even went to Reno. Remember the night I told you it was all off? But I wrote it, too, and sent it by Hall."

"I never got it," Aline said quickly.

"I don't know what happened to it, then. He came back and said he had left it. But we'd talked it all out anyway. We'd settled it."

"I don't remember settling anything at all. Except that you hadn't gotten a divorce as you promised to, and that you ran away. But I knew that you'd be home some day, Toppy, and that we'd talk it over and straighten it all out. I mean I haven't changed in the least. I mean I did go to Reno and get my divorce, and so where am I?"

She looked so lovely, so entirely the alluring woman, as she said this that Rogers was more shaken than he knew. He felt the curious power she had always held over him since as a boy he had seen a sixteen-year-old girl dancing in black lace with poppies in her hair.

"Aline," Rogers said, "has it ever occurred to you that it might be Dina?"

"Dina!" she echoed quickly. "You mean she's fallen in love with you? That's nonsense, no matter what she says. Caroline tells me that Vere is mad to marry her now."

"I don't know that she's fallen in love with me. I know that she refuses me a divorce."

"Well, you certainly can make her."

"I don't believe I can. The last thing she said to me was, 'If we are ever divorced, it will be because I ask for it, not you.'"

"What earthly claim has she on you? I mean don't be utterly ridiculous."

"The claim she has on me is legal, after all, Aline," he said coldly.

"Legal! Well, legal or not, you could tell the world a story about that woman that would mark her and her child, too, for life. What more does she want than that Vere will marry her."

"I expected a letter from her today. It didn't come, but it will probably be here tomorrow," Rogers began.

"Hinz says dinner's ready, Rogers," said a voice from the doorway. The man and the woman at the fireside turned as if electrified, but if Rogers gave a perceptible start it was lost in the still deeper amazement of his companion. Dina had come into the room.

"Hello, Aline," she said, coming forward. "No Caroline? I thought she was coming too."

She slipped easily into her big chair, completing the semi-circle by the fire, smiled at the other two.

"No, nothing for me, Hinz," she said to the butler. "We'll be coming right out. I wasn't sure I could make it today, Rogers." Dina went on. "So I didn't write. I left the baby with mother."

"I was just telling Aline," Rogers began.

"Of your reconciliation," Aline put in as he paused. She was breathing a little hard.

"It could hardly be a reconciliation when there wasn't ever a quarrel," Dina said innocently. "I don't think we ever quarreled, did we, Rogers?"

"I don't believe we ever did." She knew he was all but speechless with surprise and satisfaction. "Unless it was about Russian bank," he added.

"Oh, well, I won't play Russian bank," Dina declared firmly.

"Because you have never mastered its intricacies, my dear," Rogers' tone held just the pleasantly teasing note of the husband and householder.

A friend's ear was to come for Aline when she telephoned for it. Pleading a headache, she had Rogers telephone immediately after dinner.

While Rogers telephoned, Dina and Aline were alone for five minutes.

"You think you are very clever," said Aline, looking at the younger woman through narrowed lids. "You think that by this kind of play-acting you'll hold Rogers and incidentally hold Rogers' money. I'd like the lowdown on it. Why didn't he get a divorce?"

"I really don't know," Dina answered candidly. "I had gone up to Stockton to be with my mother. The first thing I heard was that Rogers had gone to China."

"I want to tell you something," Aline said. "I can make it very well worth your while to drop this silly nonsense and get your divorce as you promised last Winter. Vere's mother is my oldest friend, and if you happen to want to marry Vere——"

"Vere asked me to marry him," Dina said simply, "when he thought we were going to be divorced. But this way," she finished, "seemed wiser."

"It won't be wise for Rogers, I warn you," Aline began again quickly, "to have his wife discussed as you may be discussed."

"I think people have said everything of me that they can say," Dina answered unruffled.

"I couldn't rouse the Harrison garage at all," Rogers said, returned, "but Hall's here. Where are you staying, Aline?"

"With Caroline. Did you tell Hall?"

"Yep, and he's waiting. But why rush? That aspirin may ease up your head any minute." But even as he spoke Rogers was walking with her toward the hall, and when he came back five minutes later he was alone.

What Today Means

"CANCER"

If June 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., and from 10:30 p.m. until midnight.

Today Summer begins at 2.13 a.m. E.S.T., when the sun enters the sign of Cancer. The average person born under this sign is, as a rule, inclined to be rather reserved, of a retiring disposition, and extremely sensitive. Through their process of thinking, Cancer people often get reputations for not knowing their own minds, through their constantly reversing their opinions, so those born under this sign should endeavor to overcome this fault. Inclined to be tenacious, Cancer people are firm believers in the adage "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again," and they generally succeed. A healthy imagination often works miracles for them when it comes to counteracting any kind of an effect resulting from wrong thinking. Water sports are their best form of recreation, so seashore resorts ought to have a strong appeal to those born under this sign. Cancer's birthstones are the white rose, white poppy, and wallflower. It might be well for the married, engaged or courting Cancer individual to remember that Monday evenings are usually the most favorable of weekdays for them to select for the asking of favors, making resolutions, or for making plans relating to their personal affairs.

If you are a woman and June 22 is your birthday, violet should be your most favored color. You probably love crowds, deriving an exhilarating sense of excitement watching them. Your surroundings are apt to have a decided influence on your feelings, so always endeavor to have them bright and cheerful. Never abuse your stomach by doing a lot of reckless eating, or by withholding from it the proper amount of nourishment through indulging in fad diets. As a trained nurse, gift shop operator, restaurateur, business manager, interior decorator, professional entertainer, sales agent, accountant, lawyer, doctor, designer, writer, teacher, or in some line of activity helpful to your country's war efforts, you ought to attain outstandingly good results. A love for home life should make you an ideal mate for any man and assure you domestic felicity.

The child born on June 22 usually possesses an instinctively refined nature, gracious manners, and an engaging personality. Through their magnetic individuality, success generally comes to Cancer children during their early manhood or womanhood.

If you are a man and June 22 is your natal day, you seldom, if ever, are afraid to face issues, with the result that you are apt to handle them most successfully. As a financier, engineer, publisher, printer, author, journalist, war correspondent, astronomer, scientist, inventor, jurist, physician, clergyman, or through your participating in air, naval or ground battles, you should find yourself embarked upon a worth while and most promising career.

How It Started---

By JEAN NEWTON

"THE HELL WITH MY FRIENDS IN CLEVELAND!"

—Rommel to Hitler.

The ruin of Rommel in Africa, after he had come within a stone's throw of taking Alexandria, must have chagrined him no little bit.

That one of the forces that motivated him was earning the great esteem of Hitler, there is no doubt; that latterly the fear of losing face with the fuehrer impelled him to tremendous effort, there is equally no doubt; that both considerations were finally cast to the winds in his final rout and knockout is now absolutely clear.

It reminds us of a fairly famous prize fight that took place many years ago between Kid Broad and the Mexican champion, Herrera, the memorable feature of the bout being Kid Broad's own description of it.

"I had done all right for three rounds," he said; "in fact, I thought I had him at the end of the third. Right at the beginning of the fourth, he clips me on the chin and I'm flattened. I said to myself, 'Kid Broad, what will your friends in Cleveland say when they hear you were knocked out by a Greaser?'

"So I got up, he hit me on the chin, and he knocked me down again, and I said to myself, 'Kid Broad, what will your friends in Cleveland say when they hear you were knocked out by a Greaser?'

"So I got up. And he hit me on the chin, and knocked me down, and the back of my head hit the floor, and I said to myself, 'The hell with my friends in Cleveland!' And I stayed there."

Qualified voters of the corporation as hereinafter defined to a number of not less than one-tenth of one per centum (1/10%) of the number of policies of the corporation in force as set forth in the next preceding annual statement of the corporation filed with the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance may nominate a candidate for each office of director to be filled at such next ensuing election by filing with the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance at least five months before the day fixed for such election a certificate, which may be in any number of counterpart originals, signed and acknowledged by each of them, giving his address and the number of his policy and giving the name, occupation and address of each candidate so nominated, together with a statement signed by each such candidate to the effect that he will accept if elected, and by serving upon the secretary of the corporation at least five months before the day fixed for such election a duplicate original of such certificate and of such statement.

(b) In case of the death, withdrawal or incapacity of any candidate nominated by the Board of Directors prior to election, the Board of Directors shall by a vote of a majority of its number nominate a candidate in his place by filing prior to the day fixed for the election a certificate similar to that required for an original nomination by the Board of Directors, and in case of the death, withdrawal or incapacity of any candidate nominated by others prior to election, such other persons or a majority of them may nominate a candidate in his place by filing and serving prior to the day fixed for the election duplicate certificates and statements similar to those required for an original nomination by such persons.

(c) The qualified voters of the corporation shall consist of every policyholder who is twenty-one years of age or more and whose policy has been in force for at least one year. For the purposes of this section the term "policyholder" shall mean (1) the person insured under an individual policy of life insurance issued upon the application of such person, (2) the person who effectuates any such policy upon the life of another, (3) the person to whom any annuity or pure endowment is presently or prospectively payable by the terms of an individual annuity or pure endowment contract except where the policy or contract declares some other person to be the owner thereof, in which case such owner shall be deemed to be the policyholder, (4) the employer under a policy of group life or other form of group insurance issued to such employer covering his employees and (5) the employer under a group annuity contract issued to such employer and covering his employees. Such notice shall contain the names of the persons nominated by the Board of Directors and by others at the time of commencement of publication and the death, withdrawal or incapacity of any such nominee or the nomination of any person in his stead before or after the completion of publication shall not invalidate such notice, nor shall the omission of any publication herein prescribed invalidate such notice or the election to which it relates; provided, the corporation shall have made diligent effort to cause such publication to be made.

(f) All ballots voted shall be received by the tellers subject to verification and ascertainment of the validity thereof and of the qualification of the voters, and, in the case of ballots voted by proxy, the respective proxy instruments shall be filed with the tellers. The person receiving the highest number of votes for each office of director to be filled shall be elected for a full term. In case two or more persons shall receive the same number of votes for the same office, the tellers shall decide the election by lot.

(g) At the conclusion of the canvass the tellers shall report in writing to the secretary of the corporation the result thereof and he shall thereupon make a certificate, duly sworn to, setting forth the result of the election as shown by such report and shall file the same with the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance.

9. Any vacancy in the Board of Directors may be filled by a majority vote of the Board for the unexpired term to which such vacancy relates.

10. The Board of Directors shall have full power from time to time to make, alter, amend and rescind by-laws, rules and regulations for the conduct of the business and affairs of the corporation in conformity with the provisions of this amended charter, and to employ such officers and agents as the Board of Directors in its discretion may determine for the conduct of such business and affairs.

INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA

THE FUEL CONTROLLER has called for the active cooperation of industry in helping to relieve the fuel shortage. All industrial plants have a major part to play in this program . . .

INDUSTRY MUST CONSERVE Fuel

For an approximation, you can consider that one pound of steam lost represents one-tenth of a pound of fuel. Even a small leak, equal to the area of a 1/16" diameter hole, can lose 233 pounds of steam in 24 hours at a pressure as low as 50 pounds. This would mean 23 pounds of fuel wasted every day.

Here are typical fuel-wasters in industrial plants:

Leakage around valve stems
Leakage at pipe joints
Traps that blow steam
Wasted condensate
Valves not closing tightly
Leaky glands and stuffing boxes
Uncovered or improperly insulated piping
Dirty boilers
Defective boiler settings
Improper firing
Unbalanced stoker adjustment
Ineffective automatic controls

Have your plant thoroughly checked for all these and innumerable other causes of fuel waste. Have all necessary adjustments and repairs made NOW.

Doing this will be a direct act toward meeting the fuel emergency.

The Crane series of "Piping Pointers" shop bulletins issued to date includes:

1. "How to keep your plant going without interruption."
2. "11 simple ways to get better service from piping equipment."
3. "Helpful hints on choosing valves."
4. "Tips on valve trim."
5. "How to repair valves."
6. "Short-cuts to faster piping jobs."

These are particularly useful to maintenance men, covering the practical aspects of valves, fittings and piping. If you are not on the Crane list, use the coupon below.

VICTORIA WE

Stamp Sales Drive Opens

Twelve hundred depth charges from the citizens of British Columbia—each one contributing to the destruction of Nazi U-boats in the ever-fiercer Battle of the Atlantic—that is the minimum objective for British Columbia in a "Stamp Out the U-Boat" campaign planned for June 28 to July 31 by the National War Finance Committee in connection with the sale of War Savings Stamps.

Residents of British Columbia-Yukon communities will be asked to buy $108,000 worth of stamps during those five weeks to pay for 1,200 submarine-killing depth charges at $90 each.

The quota for Victoria is $15,750, which will buy 175 depth charges. Every cent collected during the campaign will be diverted directly into the purchase of submarine-destroying "ash cans." Said Minister of Finance J. L. Ilsley:

"Canada's navy has a most important task to do—Germany's submarines must be cleared from the seas. I heartily endorse the 'Stamp Out the U-Boat' plan. Every dollar received from the sale of War Savings Stamps from June 28 to July 31 will be spent to buy more depth charges to kill the U-boats."

As a special feature designed to kindle the imagination of Canadians, arrangements are being made whereby stamp buyers in this campaign will be permitted to send "personal greetings" to the Axis. Every purchaser of four twenty-five-cent stamps will receive a printed "Stamp-O-Gram" message to be signed with his or her name and address. Eventually each group of ninety messages will be attached to an actual depth charge which the money will buy for the Royal Canadian Navy.

Some people may choose to write: "To Adolf with love." Others may prefer something like this: "Dunking Doenitz is fun—we love it!" Still others may select more robust messages, all of which will be "delivered" effectively when the T.N.T.-packed "ash cans" go thundering into the wolf packs from the decks of the R.C.N.'s fighting ships.

PREDICT GREATER SEA CONFLICT

Announcement of the campaign comes in the wake of numerous reports indicating that the Summer and Fall of 1943 will bring an intensification of sea warfare dwarfing everything that has gone before. Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, archapostle of the idea that the U-boats are Germany's one hope of winning the war, is in supreme command of Hitler's fleet and is diverting almost its entire energies to undersea assaults.

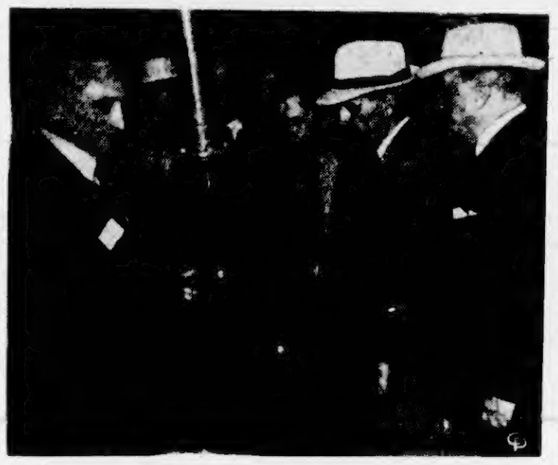
Officials mapping the War Stamps drive are pointing out that even one properly placed depth charge, costing $90, can smash and sink a submarine costing up to $2,000,000.

Depth charges have played a key role in the R.C.N.'s already impressive record of U-boat sinkings. Again and again, in the official accounts of such victories, credit is given to "ash cans" for either sinking a submarine at a blow or blasting it to the surface and exposing it to lethal gunfire.

Thus far the R.C.N. has listed three destroyers—Assiniboine, Skeena and St. Croix—and seven corvettes, Chambly, Moose Jaw, Oakville, Wetaskiwin, Ville de Quebec, Port Arthur and Regina—as having definitely destroyed one or more U-boats each in various war theatres. British Columbia officers and ratings figured in them all.

In a speech at Toronto on April 19, Prime Minister King declared the Battle of the Atlantic had become "fiercer than ever" and added: "Now, as never before, the bridge of ships across the North Atlantic must be maintained."

Great Industrial Plant Officially Opened



THE industrial production effort of the United Nations has advanced another step when in the presence of distinguished officials and members of the Canadian and United States Governments the industrial alcohol plant of the Ontario Paper Company at Thorold, Ont., shown here, was officially opened. It has an annual capacity of 600,000 gallons and a special process establishes it as a demonstration test plant for the North American sulphide industry. Many dignitaries from Canada and the United States attended the opening. Left to right are Dr. M. M. Rosten, consultant engineer; Sen. J. J. Bench, K.C., St. Catharines, Ont.; Dr. E. T. Sterne, chemical controller; Harry J. Carmichael, co-ordinator of production, Ottawa; Sen. Raymond Willis, Indiana; Sen. George D. Aiken, Vermont; William Jeffers, United States rubber director; in the background to the right is Colonel Robert R. McCormick, publisher of The Chicago Tribune.

Harry Givan Golf Leader

TACOMA, June 21 (AP).—Smooth stroking Harry Givan, former Walker Cupper from Seattle, won the Pacific Northwest Golf Association service benefit tournament at the Fircrest course. Givan did the morning round in 69, two below par, and in the afternoon took a 72 for a 144 total.

Art Christopher, of Vancouver, paced Canadians in the event with a 73 and 78 for a thirty-six-hole total of 151. Maj. J. R. Morris and Capt. G. Likely, both of Victoria, posted eighteen-hole scores of 91 and Lieut. A. B. Carter, also of Victoria, came through with an eighteen-hole score of 92.

Albert (Scotty) Campbell, also a former Walker Cupper from Seattle and now a chief petty officer in the United States Navy, and Harry Umbinetti, also of Seattle, tied for second, Campbell had 73-73—146 and Umbinetti 75-71—146.

Charles D. (Chuck) Hunter, Tacoma City amateur champion, was next with 75-74—149, and Bill Welch, Jr., national public links champion now of Spokane, followed with 72-78—150.

The one-day tournament replaced the week-long Northwest amateur of former years. About 125 took part in the event.

Tacoma and Seattle War Athletic Councils shared in the receipts.

Swim Event Carded

Under the joint sponsorship of the R.A.F. sports and entertainments committees a grand swimming gala and dance is to be held in the Crystal Garden on Thursday by kind permission of Group Capt. S. L. G. Pope, D.F.C., A.F.C.

It is expected that this event will exceed in popularity the similar attraction held last year. In the swimming gala there are thirteen varied events, including races and diving displays and a water polo match. A number of Empire events include representatives of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Britain. Competitions have also been arranged between the R.C.A.F. W.D.'s and the C.W.A.A.C.'s.

Dancing on two floors will follow the swimming gala to the music of the popular R.A.F. orchestra.

All service personnel and their friends are invited and programmes carrying admission can be obtained from the R.A.F. station or at the door.

ONIONS FROM SETS

It's much easier and quicker to grow onions from "sets" rather than from seeds. Plant them about an inch deep and one inch apart (for green onions) and thin to about three inches apart for cooking onions. And did you know that from one pound of onion sets you can grow about 100 pounds of big onions?
